IN THE BEE TO-DAY.

WEATHER.

Local forecast for to-day and to-morrow—Cloudy, cooler. Fair and colder Sunday morning.

Observer Hagen says: The low temperature and high pressure continues in the northwest. The zero temperature line reached western Iowa this morning.

A week "low" appears on the map this morning at Cheyenne and will probably push its way towards the lakes, arriving, say Sunday night. The conditions along the lake shore are threatening and favorable for snow, but none is expected here.

The highest temperature in the United States this morning was 58 degrees, at Galveston; the lowest was 6 degrees below zero at Miles City and Huron, South Dakota.

The maximum temperature at Toledo yesterday was 42 degrees; the coldest this morning was 32 degrees.

Forecast for Western New York and Ohio—Generally fair, except light showers or flurries of snow along the lake shore; westerly winds; slightly cooler; continued cool and fair Saturday.

For Wisconsin and Michigan—Slightly colder; westerly winds; generally fair weather, except along the lake shore light flurries of snow; continued cold and fair for Saturday; probably fair Sunday.

The War Has Commenced In Brazil.

An Effort by the Nationalist Party

To Drive the Dictator Into the Sea.

Fonseca's Troops Joining the Opposition.

An Alarming State of Affairs in the New Republic With All Indications That Fonseca's Rule May End Like That of the Late Balmaceda.

London, Nov. 13.—Even the most alarming reports from Brazil are confirmed today by a dispatch received by a leading financial house having large interests in Brazil. This message, so far as untangled from the cipher complications in which it has been wrapped, says, in substance:

"Affairs look bad; upheaval probable; result uncertain; several provinces revolting; troops joining opposition; Fonseca cannot count on navy; health bad; fighting going on somewhere; Fonseca defeated; exchange dropping; garrison Rio uneasy; finance blue; paper money under cloud; prices of everything rising; presence strong (British) fleet good effect; opposition gaining every hour; much bloodshed possible."

From above synopsis of the situation it will be seen that the worst is to be feared.

Other and similar messages, some of them giving more details and others still being of a decidedly more sensational character have been received in London during the last few hours.

Of course the fact is not lost sight of that English financiers and merchants are not in some cases adverse to receiving and spreading bad news from Brazil; they are not in favor of the United States reciprocity treaty with that country and some of them would make handsome profits at a slump in Brazilian securities.

Further fighting is reported in Brazil and the opposition forces are again credited with a victory; but the spot where the battle was fought is not stated; but it is supposed to have been in the vicinity of Santa Ana near Porto Alegre, the capital of Rio Grande do Sul.

A number of other towns, in addition to Porto Alegre, are reported to have hoisted the flag of the national party of Brazil and large bodies of troops are being raised in the provinces with the ultimate intention, it is said, of advancing upon the dictator's headquarters at Sao Paulo.

It is now said that Da Fonseca's idea in leaving Rio Janeiro for Sao Paulo was undobtedly caused by the two facts already mentioned in these dispatches; namely, that he makes his base of operations there because it is near Santos, a port he is said to be certain he can count upon, because he can prevent a juncture between the forces of the province of Rio Grand do Sul, and finally because his advisers are said to be of the opinion that the political atmosphere of Rio Janeiro is not at the present moment thoroughly beneficial to the dictators health.

There is no further news from the provinces of Pernambuco, Bahia and Mina-Gernes or from Los Catilinos, but on the other hand the reports cabled here to the effect that they have revolted against the dictatorship are not denied by subsequent cable messages. On the other hand the garrisons of San Gabriel and Bage, in Rio Grande do Sul, are said to have joined issue with the national party.

The governor of Rio Grande do Sul, who is an adherent of Da Fonseca's party, has assured the supporters of the dictator in that province that a fleet of Brazilian war vessels will shortly arrive off the coast of Rio Grande do Sul, and that no quarter will be shown to those who have "revolted against the government."

This is pretty cool, considering that the dictator has dissolved congress, that his ruling is with the sword, and that the troops and navy remaining loyal to him have either proclaimed him, or are upon the point of proclaiming him "dictator for life."

In some respects the present struggle reminds one of the coups d' etat of the famous Roman generals who aimed for and sometimes attained the throne of the Roman empire. In other respects it resembles the rise of Balmaceda, and the sequel may possibly resemble that unfortunate ruler's fall.

Da Fonseca, from Sao Paulo, is dispatching some of the troops he has concentrated there, to the assistance of Gov. Castillo, in Rio Grande do Sul, and the national party is said to be determined, if possible, not to allow the junction of those forces to be accomplished without a struggle.

If Da Fonseca allows the nationalists to gather themselves, his reinforcements will have to fight their way south, and the first important engagement of the civil war may then be looked for.

This day's cable advices add that the nationalists will use the utmost energy in trying to create a diversion in Da Fonseca's rear, probably through the assistance of the forces of the province of Minas-Geraes.

A later message says that Da Fonseca's reinforcements are to be embarked on board war vessels and transports, and that they will be sent to Rio Grande do Sul by sea.

The nationalists are credited with having already made arrangements to place a force of 7,000 men, horse and foot artillery in the field.

A Santiago de Chili cable says: According to advices received here civil war has undoubtedly broken out in Brazil, and the revolutionary movement is spreading all over the country. Several provinces are already up in arms against the dictator, and a battle has been fought somewhere in which Da Fonseca's supporters were defeated. In addition to the revolt in the province of Rio Grande do Sul, it is stated here that the interior provinces of Matto Grosso, Goyaz and Para have either already joined issues with the rest of the national party or elese they are on the point of so doing.

It is stated here that the plan of campaign of the leaders of the national party is that each of the provinces of Rio Grande do Sul, Goyaz, Para, Pernambuco and Minas-Geraes, shall concentrate at a given point, all the fighting men possible, and that these forces shall make a combined forward movement upon the dictator's stronghold (Sao Paulo and Rio Janeiro) and, to use their own expression, drive him with his supporters into the sea, and elect a president who will govern for the people and according to the people's laws.

Chilians, after passing through just such an experience as Brazil seems to be undergoing, after having suffered through long months of civil war due to conduct, upon the part of Balmaceda, almost identical with that of Fonseca, are heartily in sympathy with the nationalist party of Brazil and look for speedy overthrow of that country's Balmaceda.

Ten Big War Ships Ordered to Chili.

One Hundred Guns and 2,700 Men.

The United States Government Does Not Propose to Stand Any More Foolishness From President Montt's People.

New York, Nov. 13.—A special to the Press from Washington says it is quite evident that the president and Secretary Blaine do not propose to let Chili long remain in ignorance of the fact that the United States has made substantial progress in the building of a navy.

The news leaked out yesterday that there is to be a change in the assignments of a number of vessels which will result in the concentration of such a fleet of warships in the harbor of Valparaiso as will amount to a naval demonstration.

Oders have been sent, it is said, to Rear Admiral Gherardi to proceed at once to Valparaiso and assume command of the South Pacific station.

Rear Admiral Brown, now in command there, will be detached and placed on waiting orders.

Rear Admiral Walker will retain his flagship, the Chicago, and relieve Gherardi in command of the North Atlantic station.

Rear Admiral Benham will be sent on board the Newark to take command of the South Atlantic station with headquarters at Rio Janeiro.

The Atlanta, Concord, and Bennington are all to sail on Sunday or Monday for Chilian waters.

The Charleston has already been ordered to return from the Asiatic station to the South Pacific.

These orders will result in placing under the command of Admiral Gherardi at Valparaiso a fleet composed of the Philadelphia, (flagship,) San Francisco, Baltimore, Charleston, Boston, Atlanta, Yorktown, Concord, Bennington, while the Newark will be within comparatively easy call.

This concentration of warships will carry nearly one hudred guns and more than 2,700 men.

The selection of Admiral Gherardi to command this fleet can be regarded as significant. He is known as the principal diplomat among the officers of the navy and it will be remembered that he, in a sense, superseded Minister Douglass in the futile negotiations with Hayti for the possession of Mole St. Nicholas as a coaling station.

BLUE AND GRAY.

Grand Army Post of Muncie, Ind., Opposed to Holding of Joint Reunions.

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 13.—Williams Post, No. 78, G. A. R., of this city, has passed resolutions condemning the practice of holding blue and gray reunions, as such reunions cannot be held without honoring alike the men and through them the principles for which each contended in the lamented struggle for supremacy during the days of fratricidal war, thus destroying the distinction between loyalty and disloyalty, patriotism and treason, teaching the present generation that there is no difference between the principles for which the blue and the gray fought.

The resolution also ask all posts in the department to take action in the matter to the end that the department encampment of Indiana for 1892 the state may go on record as opposed to holding joint reunions of the blue and the gray at the next or any future encampment.

IN THE EMPIRE STATE.

Cleveland and Boies the Popular Cry.

Ohio Looked On Only As a Side Issue.

It Has Always Been Counted In the Republican Column and Can Remain There for All the Harm It Will Do.

New York, Nov. 13.—(Special)—The St. Louis Republic correspondent has wired his paper the following interesting column on matters political:

"Down the Ohio" is the favorite tune with New York republicans now, and they whsitle it as they pass through the graveyard in which their political hopes are buried. Democrats do not begrudge the opposition the crumb of comfort which Ohio affords them. Of course, it would have been nice if the reform broom had made a clean sweep while it was at work, and then, too, Gov. Campbell's heroic canvass deserved a better fate, but, after all, there are those in this state who believe good may come out of evil and that Ohio returns may prove a boomerang to the g. o. p. A statesman of national fame said to me yesterday afternoon: "If McKinley had been defeated the radicals would have rushed to cover by modifying their tariff demands in the platform next year. The lines would not in that event be as sharply drawn on the tariff issue as the logic of the situation now demands. The chief apostle of protection has been indorsed by his people. Whether his election was bought, or whether his constituency is actually imbecile, makes not the slightest difference. Those who sow the wind must reap the whirlwind. Next year the tariff issue will be paramount, and on that issue our side must win."

Since last Tuesday I have talked with no less than fifty well-informed democrats. Their views make a composite picture of hope and confidence. They are a unit in the belief that success for next year is in the cards—that the tidal wave of last year has not yet shown any signs of receding. As Hon. Benton McMillin expressed it the day after the election: "There are not republicans enough in the country to elect a president." New York is considered by every one as out of the list of doubtful states, and nine democrats out of ten turn their eyes towards Grover Cleveland as the man of the hour. Your average New Yorker, it must be remembered, never thinks of a presidential possibility materializing further west than Buffalo.

Boies for Vice-President.

I positively have heard but one name mentioned for the vice-presidency—Boies of Iowa. He is in everybody's mouth, and his success in carrying his commonwealth twice in succession is looked upon as an achievement little less than a miracle. He might have done it once by accident, but lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

Mr. Boies visited New York last winter as a guest of the Reform club. His charming personality then made him many friends, and it is believed here that he could carry Iowa in a national contest "hands down." I violate no confidence in saying that the New York delegation—unless surprising changes take place within a year—will vote in the convention for Horace Boies for vice-president.

The political prophet with his array of figures is just now ubiquitous. He bobs up and down in the rotunda of the Hoffman and buttonholes everybody that is willing to listen to him. Once he gets his auger inserted he will bore indefinitely unless you hastily agree with him and then make tracks. He can prove anything. For instance, that New York is not necessary to democratic success—provided we carry Iowa, Indiana, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut and seven votes in Michigan.

Nobody here looks upon Gov. Russell of Massachusetts as available presidential timber. All that talk comes from farther west and from the south. That the young governor is a man of destiny nobody doubts, but he will have to wait. He is young and can afford to do this. He is mentioned as a probable factor in the next administration, though some assign him to the portfolio of state, others to less important cabinet places. I have also heard Gov. Francis mentioned as a probable member of the next cabinet, provided Mr. Cleveland is the next president.

The victory here in New York may indirectly affect the speakership contest at Washington next month in this wise: Mr. Flower was materially aided in his canvass by a large number of visiting congressmen. All these statesmen confined themselves to the discussion of national issues, the tariff question being pushed to the front ahead of all others. The triumph, therefore, is a triumph of tariff reform, and Mr. Mills, being the chief exponent of this doctrine, just as McKinley is the chief exponent of its antithesis, it is pointed out that he deserves consideration from the New York delegation in his candidacy for the speakership.

SAM SMALL ATTACKED.

He Gets Altogether Too Gay With His Mouth.

A Liquor Man Strongly Objected To Being Abused From the Public Stage.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 13.—Sam Small, the noted evangelist, was attacked this morning and severely beaten by Tom Minor, an Atlanta saloonkeeper. The liquor man's fists were wielded with great force and the sensational preacher came out of the encounter with a split lip and a badly bruised nose. Last Sunday the reverend gentleman delivered an address to a large crowd at the Prohibition hall in Atlanta, and after attacking the character of several Atlanta whisky dealers, he charged Tom Minor with having deserted his family, leaving them to starve. Minor saw Small enter a barber shop this morning and followed him. As Mr. Small hung his overcoat up and started towards a chair, Minor struck him on the nose. Small fell to the floor, and before he could rise Minor kicked him in the face. Small's face is badly bruised, his under lip is cut and he has lost three teeth.

VANDERBILT PURCHASE.

New York, Nov. 13.—It is rumored that the Vanderbilts have bought 10,000,000 Manhattan Elevated railroad stock from Gould and that they will take an active interest in the property. It is also stated that this interest will prevent the consummation of a new rapid transit scheme.

JUMPED TO HIS DEATH.

Pittsburg, Nov. 13.—Henry Dallmeyer, who last Friday night was seized with one of his nocturnal vagaries in which he imagined that his house was burning down, and jumped from a window to the sidewalk, 20 feet below, died during last night from the effects of injuries received by the fall.

FOR HATCH.

St. Louis, Nov. 13.—A number of Missouri congressmen are in the city and today they held a meeting at the Southern hotel, and agreed to indorse Hatch for speaker.

IN LINE FOR SHERMAN.

Dan Ryan and General Watson Are Against Foraker.

Columbus, O., Nov. 13.—Secretary of State Ryan and Attorney General Watson authorize the announcement that they faver the return of John Sherman to the United States senate. Mr. Ryan says he is confident that Foraker will not have more than from 25 to 29 votes, and he doubts whether his name will be presented before the caucus.

ELLIOTT'S CASE IN SUPREME COURT.

Columbus, O., Nov. 13.—The case of W. J. Elliott, the murderer of A. C. Osborn and W. L. Hughes, was argued in the supreme court to-day on a motion for leave to file a petition in error to the common pleas court of Franklin county.

The arguments of Wm. Elliott's attorneys were damaging to Pat's prospects, it being claimed, in order to shield Bill, that Pat killed Osborn. The case will probably be decided next Tuesday.

SUES FOR DAMAGES.

Fostoria, O., Nov. 13.—(Special)—Levi Lambright, of this city, is suing the Nickle Plate for $20,000 for the loss of his leg two years ago. A former court awarded him $10,000 but the decree was set aside by the circuit court, and the case was remanded back to the common pleas court for a new trial.

TO RESCUE A GREAT CITY.

New York To Be Lifted Out of the Paths of Sin.

A Noble Undertaking by Many Brave Men.

The Greatest Reform Movement Ever Inaugurated is Now Under Way in the Metropolis—The Pulpit and Press Unite.

New York, Nov. 13.—The greatest reform movement ever inaugurated for the real benefit of the people of this city began yesterday by the issuance of a circular letter earnestly asking the co-operation of all religious and philanthropic societies in a determined effort to make New York city a better place to live.

The letter was sent to the pastors of the various denominations in the city and vicinity. It is signed by such well known men as Bishop Potter, Mr. Depew, Seth Low, Rabbi Kohler, Mr. Gilder, Mr. Seligman and ex-Mayor Hewitt.

The whole effort is aimed at the betterment of life as it is in this metropolis and is a common-sense plan to build up a moral force in the community.

The first meeting will be held in the marble collegiate church next Thursday night, which will be addressed by those mentioned above and President Elliot, of Harvard, Rev. Dr. Strong, Dr. Shaw and Dr. Newton.

More than 50 ministers have joined the union and have promised to discuss the subject in their pulpits on Sunday, November 22.

The press has also been enlisted in the work and the unification of the two greatest powers in civilization, the press and the pulpit, will work shoulder to shoulder in the interest of humanity.

CONSCIENCE MONEY.

Columbus, O., Nov. 13.—The state treasurer to-day opened a letter received several days ago from Cincinnati containing a $1,000 bill and a letter without a signature stating that the enclosed was "conscience money."

GOLD DISCOVERED.

London, Nov. 13.—The Hon. Cecil Rhodes, premier of Cape Colony, cables from Capetown that some extremely rich gold reefs have been discovered near Ft. Victoria, Mashonaland, South Africa.

TREASURY STATEMENT.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The treasury statement issued yesterday shows that during the past ten days the net gold in the treasury in coin and bullion has increased about $2,000,000, there now being stored therein $129,630,267. The receipts from customs at New York during the past ten days have been $3,043,803.

WILL GO TO THE FAIR.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 13.—At a meeting of the Pennsylvania world's fair commissioners, 28 plans for a state building not to cost more than $75,000 were submitted. The executive commissioner made a report showing that in 55 out of 67 counties in the state ladies' auxiliary committees had been named in aid of the Pennsylvania exhibit at the fair.

BURNED OUT.

London, Nov. 13.—A fire occurred in a large timber yard in the tenement house district in the east end to-day and spread to a number of dwellings. Over 100 families were rendered homeless and a newly born infant died from exposure after being removed to the street.

PENSION OFFICE STATEMENT.

Washington, Nov. 13.—A statement has been prepared at the pension office showing that during the month of October, 1891, 32,946 pensions of all classes were granted the first payments on which aggregated $4,358,605 or $13.30 to each pensioner.

G. A. R. WEEK.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The council of administration of the Grand Army of the Republic, in session here, at a late hour yesterday afternoon fixed upon September 20 as the date of the meeting of the grand encampment at Washington next year.

WILL HAVE TO STAND TRIAL

Delamater Refused a Change of Venue.

The Supreme Court Refused the Request of His Attorneys and the Case Must Proceed.

Pittsburg, Nov. 13.—The supreme court has refused the application of Delamater & Co., late bankers of Meadville, for a change of venue. The firm, of which George W. Delamater, republican nominee for governor of Pennsylvania last year, was a member, failed 11 months ago, with liabilities of over $1,000,000.

It became apparent several months ago that nothing would be realized for the depositors, and three separate suits for embezzlement were entered against G. W. Dlamater and his partners.

The defendants applied to the supreme court for a change of venue on the ground that they could not receive a fair trial in Crawford county. The court says it sees no reason why any of the rights of the defendants would suffer by the trial of the case in Crawford county; that their removal would work hardship to the plaintiffs and their witnesses, and that the application cannot therefore be granted.

The criminal suits will now be pressed to trial. George W. Delamater is in Seattle. T. W. Delamater and Victor M. Delamater, other defendants, are in Chicago.

FENTON R. M'CREERY,

Secretary of the American Legation at Chili,

Pays Toledo a Flying Visit and Talks of Times and Things in the Southern Republic.

Fenton R. McCreery, the recently appointed secretary of the American legation at Chili, was in the city yesterday en route from San Francisco to his home in Flint, Mich. He was, while here, the guest of Mr. Clement Carpenter. Mr. McCreery has just returned from the Itata trial at San Francisco, and came to Toledo with a letter of introduction from Wm. C. Curtis, the well-known newspaper man and superintendent of the recently established bureau of American republics.

While talking with Mr. Carpenter yesterday Mr. McCreery gave some information relative to the establishment of a similar bureau in England, which throws a flood of light on the animus displayed by England in the present controversy between this country and Chili.

England seems to think reciprocity with South American republics threatens to destroy her commercial relations with those countries and has established the bureau with the evident intention of counteracting any effects of the negotiations between South American countries and the United States.

"There is undoubtedly a bitter feeling in Chili against America and Americans," said Mr. Carpenter this morning, "and there has always been. They have an idea that they could conquer this entire country in a week. Even intelligent men have expressed this opinion to me. An officer of the Chilian army told me they could capture our whole western coast line in a week. I said, 'Why, there are more people in New York and Brooklyn than you have altogether in Chili.' After a moment's thought he said, 'Oh, that may be true, but you see we have the valor.'

Mr. McCreery is a man of wide experience, talks Spanish fluently, and has traveled extensively in South American countries. He left last evening for his home in Flint, and will sail for Chili on December 10.

SERIOUSLY BURNED.

At a Fire This Morning Caused by Natural Gas Explosion.

This morning at 8:30 o'clock the fire department was called to M. C. Moore's residence on Twenty-second street to extinguish fire which had originated from a defective natural gas burner, causing an explosion. The house is at present occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Crosby, who have rented it during Mrs. Moore's absence in the south, Mrs. Crosby being Mrs. Moore's sister. Mrs. Crosby heard the report and stepping into the kitchen saw that it was all aflame. The neighbors were called and aided in emptying the house of its furniture, some one giving the alarm. The fire department responded quickly and succeeded in saving the front part of the house, although three rooms in the back part are entirely burned out. Mr. Crosby was seriously burned about the face and hands in his efforts to smolder the fire. Mrs. Crosby was also badly burned. The house was insured, and Mr. Moore, who is now in Chicago, has been telegraphed to.

COUNTERFEIT TWO DOLLARS.

The City Flooded With Them and the Banks on the Lookout.

"There must have been a great pile of counterfeit $2 bills unloaded in Toledo," said Mr. Thede Stevens, of the Merchants' National bank, to a Bee this morning. "Here is one and it is the best counterfeit I have ever seen. You see it has got the genuine silk thread"—sticking a pin through the note and exposing the thread.

"Do you receive many?"

"Yes. As many as six a day is presented."

At Ketcham's National a similar story was told, and all the banks of the city seem to have similar experience.

The note is old and soiled, and none but an expert can discover the flaw which makes them illegal.

AFTER ALLEGED QUACKS.

Mrs. B. Lehaney Arrested for Practicing Medicine Without Authority.

Mrs. B. Lehaney, of 414 Indiana avenue, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by Health Officer Fisher, who charged her with practicing medicine without authority. This woman is one of the people referred to by Dr. Fisher in his report before the police board at the last meeting. Mrs. Lehaney claims to cure diphtheria, and has quite a business. It is alleged that she is not a graduate of any medical school, and has none of the qualifications of a physician.

In police court this morning a jury was demanded and the case was continued to November 19. The jury was drawn this morning.

WILL BE OPENED

When the City Pays $1,000 to the Clover Leaf.

The case of the city against the Clover Leaf Railroad company was concluded in probate court this morning, the jury returning a verdict for the plaintiffs and fixing upon $450 as compensation for the land and $550 damages to the remainder.

It was an action to appropriate property across the tracks of the Clover Leaf company to open up Wabash street. The case was tried during the summer, but a new trial was granted for the reason that through mistake some papers were given to the jury that should not have been. The verdict that time was $590 altogether.

THROUGH THE BEE

A Home was Found for an Unfortunate Infant.

"I have just had an example of how close people read the newspapers," said Infirmary Superintendent William Kirkby. "Several days ago the Bee printed a small item saying that this department was trying to find a home for a baby girl, and before two days were over the little one was adopted into a good family. We have many cases of this kind and now we have three more infants, a boy and two girls, for whom we are trying to provide homes. They are only a few weeks old but are very promising youngsters.

BRAKEMAN KILLED.

Fatal Accident on the Michigan Central at Alexis.

A brakeman on the Michigan Central railroad, named F. A. McGrath, was killed by the cars at Alexis Junction last night. It is not known exactly how the accident happened; the man was not killed instantly but died on the way to the hospital, and the body was taken to Couldwell's undertaking establishment. His home is in Detroit, where his friends have been notified and the remains will be sent to that city.

WILL USE OIL HEREAFTER.

The Toledo Electric Light Works to Build a Large Tank.

The executive committee of the directors of the Toledo Electric Light company has decided to build an immense oil tank in connection with their works on St. Clair street. The company have successfully experimented with oil and has decided to use it now altogether. The tank will hold 150 barreds and work will commence on building the tank in about a week. Other institutions are making similar arrangements and an oil line is talked of in connection therewith.

COULDN'T FILL IT.

Foraker Would Go Down the Senatorial Aisle,

Like An Empty Wagon Over a Cobble-Stone Road.

Only Looked At As a Hurrah Politician,

And Remembered by the Ballot Box Forgeries.

Washington People Think It Would Be a National Disgrace to Have the Defeated Ohio Governor in John Sherman's Seat.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The interest here in the Sherman-Foraker senatorial contest is intense and the remarkable feature of all the talk is that no one here seems to seriously believe that the republicans of Ohio would supplant John Sherman with a man like Foraker.

"Is it possible that the republicans out there would commit such an act of fatuous folly as to substitute a mountebank for a statesman?"they ask.

"It would be a national disgrace," say others.

With such expressions as these every Ohio man is now accosted in Washington when the senatorial question is broached. Sherman has been in public life so long and his opinions have counted so heavily in the councils of his party in the past, that there clusters about him the reverence and respect of years.

He has become a pillar in American history, and the idea that his own party associates should deliberately set to work to tear him down meets only with disgust.

This disgust is intensified because Foraker aspires to fill his place. "The ex-governor would rattle around in Sherman's place like a mustard seed in a brass drum," was the way a prominent republican put it.

Foraker isn't known here. He is considered an impudent upstart, a hurrah politician about whom little is remembered except the rebel flag incident and the ballot box forgery scandal.

Preserved in the medium of these two incidents, like a fly in amber, he does not of course attract admiration. The entire eastern press, democratic and republican, voices this sentiment. In the coming fight, therefore, the Washington contingent, the outside press and the moneyed power of New York, which Mr. Sherman has so ably represented in the past, will throw the weight of their influence in favor of the senator's re-election.

There is no concealing the fact, however, that in this fight the east both misjudges and miscalculates. Here Foraker isn't given credit for either the ability, the personal magnetism nor the political shrewdness which he possesses, while Sherman's strength has been magnified out of all proportion.

He has been elevated on a kind of pedestal, like a Chinese joss, and even democrats who abhor the political doctrines which he has been preaching for 35 years, turn from him, as the pagans turn from their gods, murmuring: "We feel that he is ugly, but we know that he is great." The chances are, however, that sentiment won't cut as large a figure in the selection of the next Ohio senator as the eastern folks imagine. The young republicans out in Ohio have become tired of standing under the shadow of a name. What they want is a man in whose veins runs blood, not ice water.

Besides, Sherman will not remain much longer on the political stage and they want some one to tie their fortunes to who has his career before, not behind him. In Foraker they find such a man.

A question which is troubling both Mr. Sherman's and Mr. Foraker's friends is where Gov. McKinley will stand in the fight. Unquestionably his personal predelictions would be with Sherman and Foster as against Foraker. But McKinley is for McKinley first and until he sees how the cat is going to jump he will roost on the ridge pole and look wise like an owl.

THE OPIUM RING.

It Will Have An Airing in the Courts.

The Arrest of Chace May Bring Out Some Valuable Evidence—He Strongly Denies His Guilt.

New York, Nov. 13.—The treasury agents said this morning that they were not ready to divulge the details of the opium seizure. One arrest has been made. The person in custody is Thomas E. Chace, of Providence, R. I. He is charged with being one of the principals of the alleged smuggling ring.

He is a prominent and respected resident of Providence, and was formerly the partner of ex-Mayor Clark, of Providence, in the manufacture of dye.

During the last two or three months Mr. Chace has been followed closely in his travels by treasury officers. Mr. Chace is very indignant over his arrest.

Mr. Wilbur, one of the special agents of the treasury, in an interview with a reporter of the United Press said to-day that the government had plenty of proof against the man arrested by which his connection with the smuggling ring could be fully substantiated.

Papers found on Mr. Chace, said Mr. Wilbur, will go a great ways to convict him and they have also yielded the officials many valuable clues. He refused to say whether further arrests would be made to-day.

Mr. Wilbur added that Mr. Chace was caught redhanded, having 2,000 pounds of opium in his possession when captured. Chace is confined in Ludlow street jail.

He was also called upon by the reporter. He declared that his arrest was all a mistake. He appeared to be very much affected by his arrest. He claimed that he knew nothing of the contents of the trunk which the officials seized in his room in the Astor house.

He had been requested by a friend of his to receive the trunk and he did so, and that he declared, was all he knew about the matter.

The officials claim that Chace is the delivery man of the big opium ring and that he has been bringing the drug into this city at the rate of 2,000 pounds per month. He will have an examination before Commissioner Shields.

Mace Clock Pleads Guilty and Gets Off Lightly—Interesting Social and Personal Mention.

Norwalk, O., Nov. 13.—(Special)—Mace Clock, who stabbed his brother-in-law, Wm. Barber, in Jack Sattig's saloon at Monroeville, a few days ago, has appeared before Mayor Cornell. He pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was fined $8.60. He was not arraigned for stabbing, as it is believed he acted in self-defense. The funny part of the business is that Clock is not 21 years of age, so Sattig was arrested yesterday for selling liquor to a minor. He was fined $25 and costs, which he paid, and further, he was sentenced to the county jail for five days. Sattig keeps a very disorderly and a very disreputable place.

Milan people are not satisfied unless some one down there is trying to upset a will. The late J. C. Lockwood, ship owner and banker, who died a year or two ago, left a property valued at $800,000. Because some of his nephews, cousins and aunts didn't get a slice, they have combined, employed eminent counsel (among whom are several Toledo attorneys) and are bound to prevent the estate from going to the wife and son and others whom the deceased designated in his will. The contestants claim that Mr. L. was not of sound mind and that he was unduly influenced.

A short time ago Ralph Lockwood, a cousin of J. C., died in Milan, worth $10,000. He left a will giving his property to his brother, William, as long as he lived, and when he died to William's grandchildren. Now it happens that somebody, not mentioned in the will, pops up and says Ralph was out of his head when his will was made, and that he had no business to leave all his property to his brother and grandchildren, and so they are kicking. A suit has been instituted, good counsel has been engaged, and they will fight it. The will was witnessed by Ralph's brother and sister. The probate judge has refused to admit the will to probate on the ground that the witnesses say that Ralph was not of scund mind when he executed the document. So between the two the Milan people have a rich time of it.

Chicago Anarchists Loaded With Arms and Beer,

Denounce the Law and Threaten to Murder.

Four Hundred Men at the Notorious Grief's Hall Made to Hold Up Their Hands and Deliver Their Revolvers to the Blue Coats Last Night.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Within a bomb's throw of the Haymarket, armed anarchists last night again met the Chicago police. The result was a most ignominious defeat for the men of the red flag.

A mass meeting of the most radical element was announced to be held in Grief's hall, 54 West Lake street, a place celebrated in the annals of Spies and Parsons.

The unexpected force displayed by the authorities in compelling the West Twelfth street Turner hall gathering to hoist the stars and stripes had a disconcerting effect, and at the last moment it was decided to make the Grief's hall gathering secret, and to admit only a few of the most trusted spirits.

Accordingly the master of ceremonies Thomas Grief, proprietor of the big saloon below the hall, announced that his space up stairs had all been previously engaged, thus dismissing the general rabble. Those who could be depended upon were told to quitely go to the third floor, where a meeting would be held.

Up the flights of stairs in the place indicated there gathered many of those who were leaders in the ranks before the Haymarket riots. Speeches were made in English and German, and the enthusiasm was great.

The American flag was not there. It was thought that the police had been completely hoodwinked, and that there was no danger of an intrepid officer commanding them to respect the banner that protected them.

In this, however, the reds were at fault. Inspector Lewis, in charge of that division of the city, has been too much in Chicago to believe that the fanatics would allow themselves to be deprived of a chance to cry for blood and anarchy.

A detective had been for several days cultivating the acquaintance of the men who were leaders during the exciting times of five years ago. This man was admitted to the meeting, and kept his superior informed of all that was going on.

Soon word came that very inflammatory speeches were being made, and that a number of those in the meeting were displaying arms and boasting of the use they would be put to in case the police interfered.

In the saloon below fully 200 men were gathered, and although no organized meeting was held there, speeches scarcely less incendiary than those above were being made, and it was evident that trouble might occur at any moment.

In the historic Desplaines police station a few squares distant Inspector Lewis had 100 men in uniform, and surrounding the building in which the meeting was being held were about 50 detectives in citizens' clothes. Suddenly, at a signal given by the man in the meeting, a concerted raid was made.

The non-uniformed officers guarded the rear of the building and allowed no person to leave. Bluecoats entered the front door, and in less than 60 seconds afterward the meeting on the upper floor was broken up, and those who had been making the speeches to the crowd in the saloon were under arrest.

So quickly was the onslaught, the anarchists were taken completely by surprise, and before they had time to recover themselves enough to make any serious resistance, they saw the hopelessness of their cause.

Inspector Lewis and Capt. Mahoney marched at the head of the column of police officers from the station, and were the first to enter the saloon. The proprietor, Grief, saw the bluecoats as they entered, and attempted to shut the doors in their faces. His efforts, however, were futile, as one blow from an officer's club shattered the glass and another burst the door open and the double stream of officers poured into the room.

The men who a moment before had been boasting of their intention to hurl defiance into the teeth of the Chicago police, made a rush for the rear doors, but at the sight of the guns there displayed, halted, and, with one or two exceptions, showed every symptom of cowardice and fear.

"Throw up your hands," shouted Inspector Lewis.

At the command 400 hands went into the air, and the officers commenced a search for weapons. Those who were found to possess revolvers or other arms were placed under arrest, and the others were hustled into the street and told at once to leave the vicinity.

One little fellow who wore a flaming red necktie and who had imbibed freely of the villianous liquor sold over the bar, resisted the officer who attempted to search him. He backed against the wall and drew from his pocket a wicked-looking revolver and with a muttered curse snapped it in the face of his captor.

Fortunately the cartidge missed fire, and before the would-be murderer could again press the trigger a blow from the officer's club knocked the gun from his hands.

Another bloodthirsty individual endeavored to use his revolver, crying curses against all police and all law. When his weapon was snatched from his hands he declared himself an anarchist who was ready to die and dared the police to shoot him.

In the meantime a squad of police under Lieut. Wheeler had started to ascend the stairs. They met resistance from Grief and an unknown man who drew from his overcoat pocket a long revolver, declaring he would shoot the first officer who put his foot on the stairs.

These two men were quickly overpowered and 25 stalwart police rushed up the stairs and broke into the hall in which the secret meeting was being held. A number of men were arrested here; a large amount of inflammatory literature was captured and a number of red flags were torn from the walls and destroyed.

The only real resistance encountered by the police came from three unknown men, who in the rush escaped. This trio jumped behind a bar as the officers entered and began throwing bottles and glasses. A number of officers were struck, but not seriously hurt.

Among those arrested was one of the editors of the Argeiter Zeitung, a German daily, the successor of Spies' and Parsons' rabid sheet, and which, like its predecessor published a large amount of incendiary matter, and has pronounced anarchist principles. This man was making a speech in the secret meeting when the officers entered. When he was locked up in the Desplaines street station he made a plea for his release, claiming that he was in the meeting in the capacity of a reporter. His plea wholly failed of its purpose.

Among the other prisoners were the following, each of whom carried revolvers and attempted to resist the officers: John Drissel, Ernest Rupert, Henry Miller, David Sutter, Charles Langren, Henry Dneiper and Andrew Weiss. These men are all known to the police, and several of them were prominent in the ranks of the anarchists five and six years ago, when the red flag was so often seen in the streets of Chicago. Inspector Lewis announced while the prisoners were being booked that to-morrow he would demand the revocation of Grief's license, as a beginning of an active stamping out of the reds. He added that while he was in command of the division no meetings would be held with the intention of inciting revolution or anarchy.

"Grief," said the inspector, "was, I consider, responsible to a large degree for the uprising of May 4, 1886, and I intend to make him an example.

"He told me there was no meeting being held in this building besides one called by the painters, and when I demanded that my men be allowed to search he point blank refused. Then I had to use force and the result shows the nature of the people he has around him."

Officer Lehn, one of those in citizen's clothes, who was in the crowd before the raid was made, reported that one of the speakers said that the anarchists were now stronger than ever before, and that they were prepared to give the police a big dose of the medicine administered on the 4th of May, 1886.

Officer Wessler, another of the detectives, who was in another group, listened to a harangue from a long-haired orator who declared that the police had no right to interfere with any meetings and that the time will soon come when the police force will be completely annihilated. This man was particularly blood-thirsty, and declared that he intended to devote his life to the cause of anarchy, and was willing to die for the good of the cause. He was among those arrested, but he refused to give his name at the station.

Officer Wilbasky had spent the day among the loudest anarchists. He was treated to a particularly interesting speech, having been allowed to enter a sort of caucus attended only by those supposed to be willing to lay down their lives just as did Spies and his comrades. He was told that every policeman ought to hang, but as that was impossible the reds would have to satisfy themselves with assassination. He then listened to blood-curdling utterances of how the city authorities should be destroyed. One enthusiastic red made a virulent attack against Mayor Washburn, the capitalistic press and their supporters, the police and the militia. He declared that the time was not far distant when dynamite would be used to destroy the capitalists, and that the only law would be the rights of the individual.

Further names of those arrested and those who had weapons are: Fred Meinka, Gottleib Pfeffer, Albert Palm, Charles Hastner, Louis Retar, Z. Skowionski, Herman Koone, Lewis Sugebarth, John Shubeck, Fred Whittenmeyer, Theodore Noeck, Wm. Uroan, Peter Schmidt, Carl Hinker, John Brown, Frank Benton and August Behrons.

Most of the prisoners were released before 1 a. m., Thomas Grief going on a majority of their bonds. The amount of the bond in each case was $600. As Grief left the station he fairly hissed his promise to wreak a terrible revenge upon those who had caused him so much trouble. He said that his daughter, a young lady about 20 years of age, who has been very sick for several days, was so frightened by the invasion of the police that she fainted, and great fears were expressed by the attending physician that she would not recover from the shock.

Officer P. H. Sullivan, who was the man that before the raid gained admittance to the secret meeting, told Inspector Lewis that one of the speakers declared that the saloon below was full of Pinkerton men and police, and that only for them an open meeting could be held. He proposed a revival of the use of dynamite bombs, and also a revival of the group system by which so much was once accomplished.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED,

Miss S. Chattinger, 2521 Cherry St.

"My trouble began with what I supposed was ague, the bones throughout my entire body ached, my flesh seemed tender and sore to the touch, I had a headache nearly every day, I was always dull and drowsy. Then, though it was in the summer time, I would catch cold very easy, my nose would clog up, scales would form on both sides, completely filling the nasal passages. My eyes became weak and watery. The secretions from the head would drop into the throat, irritating it so as to keep me constantly hawking and spitting to keep it clear. In about three months time this condition of affairs had reached the lungs and stomach. I began to have annoying pains through the chest and back, and most peculiar sensations about the heart. For three months I coughed so hard that my throat and stomach were kept continually sore by the strain. I had no appetite and was fast losing flesh and strength, when I was induced to consult Drs. Copeland and Buffett. You can say for me that I cannot too highly recommend these specialists. They had an intelligent understanding of my case from the very start, one by one the symptoms began leaving me until to-day I am a well woman."

TURNER'S TURPITUDE.

The Special Finance Committee and Its Report.

Action of the General Assembly Thereon.

The Ladies of the W. C. T. U. Convention Received by the General Assembly — To-Day's Business.

In 1888, when the general assembly of the Knights of Labor was in session in Indianapolis, Frederick Turner, now of Philadelphia, and who had been for some years treasurer of the general fund of the order, was defeated for re-election to that office. The offices of secretary and treasurer were consolidated, and the present secretary-treasurer, Mr. Hayes, who had previously been acting as secretary, was elected to the office he still fills. It is the judgment of all men of business among the knights that Mr. Hayes is an admirable financier and conducts the financial affairs of the order in every way to the order's best interests.

At the next annual convention of the knights, in Atlanta, Mr. Hayes reported that he had found the financial accounts and all the business of the treasurer's office in so tangled a condition that he had not been able to get at the bottom of it, trying his best. At the next meeting, which was at Denver last year, Secretary-Treasurer Hayes made a report from which the following on the same point is extracted:

The work so far accomplished will be submitted to the finance committee, and I recommend that its further prosecution should be continued with as much speed as the nature of it will permit.

While investigating a claim of Wm. Whitty, of Hudson, N. Y., for alleged supplies furnished to our members during the lock-out of the knit-goods manufacturers of northern New York in the autumn of 1887, it became necessary to make a minute examination of the payments in aid of our members, and I discovered that there had been charged, among other items, the sum of $500 as having been paid on September 29, 1887. I ascertained while at Amsterdam, N. Y., that the check given for this amount was still in the possession of the holder to whom it had been sent, never having been used. The check was handed to me, and I presented it for payment to the bank on which it was drawn, but was informed by the bank officers that the account of the drawer of the check had been closed and all funds to the credit of the late general treasurer had been withdrawn. I at once took the initial step to protect the interests of the order by handing the check to a notary for protest, and immediately on the notice of the protest being received by the late general treasurer he paid the amount of the check to the notary, making no defense, offering no apology, and suggesting nothing in palliation of his conduct. I can only state that I recommend that the investigation be pursued to the end as rapidly as possible with the means available, consistently with a strict regard for accuracy and justice to all concerned, and giving precedence only to proper attention to the daily transaction of the office.

Upon this recommendation the general assembly in convention at Denver acted, and a special committee on finance was appointed to go to Philadelphia, to the general office, and to summon Mr. Turner there, and endeavor to get to the bottom of his administration of the affairs of the order, and to report to the 1891 session of the general assembly. The committee appointed was: Henry L. Allen, of Schoolcraft, Mich.; T. L. Drury, Rutland, Vt.; Jos. R. Mansion, Troy, N. Y.

Yesterday the report of this committee was received in the convention, and its substance is as follows:

That ex-Treasurer Turner refused to appear before them or to give up the bank deposit books, canceled checks and other documents in his possession; that they made the best investigation possible in the absence of these documents and find there is over $31,000 unaccounted for. Even crediting Turner with $17,000 which his statements show to have been expended, but which the books of the order do not show, there is left a balance of over $14,000 entirely unaccounted for.

The assembly accepted the report, and ordered it made a part of the printed proceedings of this convention so that the order at large may be fully acquainted with the result of the investigation ordered by its representatives.

THE W. C. T. U.

Its Committee Received, Congratulations Exchanged, but Its Petitions Not Indorsed.

When the Ohio W. C. T. U. was in convention in Toledo a committee was appointed to wait upon this convention of the knights. The committee consisted of Toledo ladies, Mrs. Louise Eck, Mrs. Francis J. Sumner, Mrs. E. A. Edwards, Mrs. Josephine Marlett, Mrs. Walter R. Jones, Mrs. Phebe Clark, Miss Jessie Foster.

The two ladies first named are now in Boston attending the world's and the national W. C. T. U. As representing the committee Mesdames Edwards, Marlett and Clark were received at Walbridge hall yesterday afternoon by Mrs. A. P. Stevens and the other ladies in attendance on the convention, Mrs. Anna Steele, of Denver, Mrs. Catharine Kirn of Indianapolis, Miss Mary Burke of Findlay.

Mrs. Stevens presented the ladies to General Master Workman Powderly and through him to the delegates, and they were welcomed with hearty applause. On behalf of the committee Mrs. Edwards then presented the following message of congratulation and request for assistance:

The World's W. C. T. U. and the National W. C. T. U. now in session at Boston, Mass., to the National Knights of Labor in session at Toledo, O., greeting:

We thank you heartily that you have opened your session to receive us as fraternal delegates to your honorable body. We further ask you to open your minds and your hearts to the consideration and adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we reiterate our demand for equal wages and equal suffrage for men and women in this land of boasted justice.

Resolved, That we declare for an equal standard of purity for men and women in every state and territory.

Resolved, That we believe the world's exposition should be closed to work on Sunday and open to worship. Open to the higher pleasures of the intellect and the holy work of human brotherhood by means of meetings reformatory and philanthropic, and conferences on vital humanitarian questions and religious concerts; that we beseech the authorities to give us these.

Resolved, That we petition the authorities to close the saloons and also that the sale of strong drink on the fair grounds be prohibited.

On behalf of the same bodies, and in the name of the leader of the temperance movement and the good Knight of Labor Frances J. Willard, Mrs. Marlett then presented the following petition:

Petition of the World's Woman Christian Temperance Union for the Protection of the Home, addressed to the governments of the world:

Honored Rulers, Representatives and Brothers:

We, your petitioners, although belonging to the physically weaker sex, are strong of heart to love our homes, our native land, and the world's family of nations.

We know that clear brains and pure hearts make honest lives and happy homes, and that by these the nations prosper, and the time is brought nearer when the world shall be at peace.

We know that indulgence in alcohol and opium, and in other vices which disgrace our social life makes misery for all the world, and most of all for us and for our children.

We know that stimulants and opiates are sold under legal guarantees which make the governments partners in the traffic, by accepting as revenue a portion of the profits, and we know with shame that they are often forced by treaty upon population, either ignorant or unwilling.

We know that the law might do much now left undone, to raise the moral tone of society and render vice difficult.

We have no power to prevent these great iniquities beneath which the whole world groans, but you have power to redeem the honor of the nations from an indefensible complicity.

We therefore come to you with united voices of representative women of every land, beseeching you to raise the standard of the law to that of Christian morals, to strip away the safeguards and sanctions of the state from the drink traffic and the opium trade, and to protect our homes by the total prohibition of these curses of civilization throughout all the territory over which your government extends.

Mrs. Marlett made a very eloquent speech, dwelling upon the fraternal feeling between the two great organizations, upon the many common causes of reform they were together working for, and asked the convention to put itself upon record as indorsing the petition and adopting the resolutions the committee brought before them. Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Clark also spoke to the same effect, and responses were made by Mr. Powderly and Mrs. Stevens. On motion of Delegate Charles Litchman the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the general assembly of the Knights of Labor extends fraternal greetings to the W. C. T. U. and accepts the kind and cordial words of sympathy offered by the delegation here present, and assures them and the honorable body they represent in all work for the advancement of humanity and the benefit of our fellow men, the order pledge hearty co-operation.

This resolution was committed to the visiting representatives of the W. C. T. U. to be by them telegraphed to the conventions in Boston. Beyond the adoption of this resolution no action was taken by the convention upon the petition and the resolutions.

THE OLIVE BRANCH

Once More Held Out to the Federation by the Knights.

After a prolonged discussion extending over the most of yesterday afternoon's session and all of the session this morning, the following was adopted by the knights to be presented to the Federation of Trades in its annual session at Birmingham, Ala., next month:

For the purpose of terminating the differences and disagreements which have at times arisen in various localities between assemblies of the Knights of Labor and unions of various trades and between members of such assemblies and unions, and with a view of avoiding such differences and securing harmonious action in future, the general assembly submits to the American Federation of Labor and all other bodies who may become parties to the agreement, and declares the following propositions:

In future all Knights of Labor working at a trade or calling shall recognize and respect the working cards of all unions of the same trade or calling, attached or affiliated with the American Federation of Labor or connected with any labor organization who are parties to the agreement when such unions and their members shall in like manner recognize and respect the working cards of such Knights of Labor.

2. All labels the property of the Federation or of any body attached to it or of any of the labor organizations who are parties to the agreement shall be officially recognized and indorsed by the Knights of Labor and all Knights of Labor labels shall be officially recognized and indorsed by the Federation and the other parties to this agreement.

No person who is a suspended or expelled member of any union in affiliation with the Federation or of any other body a party to this agreement or who is in arrears for dues or assessments, or in any other way indebted to such union or organization, shall be admitted to membership in any assembly of the Knights of Labor without the consent of such union or organization in writing, and in like manner no person who has been expelled or suspended by an assembly of the Knights of Labor or who is indebted or in arrears for dues or assessments to such assembly, shall be admitted to membership in any union affiliated with the Federation or any of the organization who are parties to this agreement.

4. The provisions herein made shall be promulgated as soon as practicable, and go into effect on and after January 1, 1892.

And be it resolved, that no local or other assembly of Knights of Labor shall form an alliance or affiliation with any body or organization that shall refuse to enter into such an agreement as above with this order.

And, be it further resolved, that should the American Federation of Labor at its coming annual session refuse to enter into the agreement as outlined above it shall be the duty of the general officers of the Knights of Labor to issue an address to the workingmen of America setting forth all the facts.

OPEN K. OF L. MEETING

Representatives of the Order Will Talk to Outsiders Sunday Afternoon.

On Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock, there will be an open meeting in Walbridge hall, which will be addressed by some of the best exponents of the order, who will discuss the purposes and work of the knights. The public generally are invited to attend.

A STORY ABOUT DORE.

Gustave Dore's invention, as appears by Mr. Jerrold's biography, was not confined to his wonderful book illustrations. One day in Verona his friend Dalloz was taking a photographic view of the picturesque streets of that ancient city while Dore was endeavoring to keep off the crowd of idle spectators. It was a difficult task; the more the artist gesticulated and threatened the greater the throng became. Suddenly Dore was struck with an idea. "Wait a minute," he exclaimed, "and I'll disperse them." Thereupon he took off his coat and threw it upon the ground, and then putting on a pitiful expression he went round, cap in hand, to beg for a few soldi. As he advanced the crowd fell back and melted away, and Dalloz obtained his negative.—London News.

Making Matches Last.

"They're even getting to make matches smaller," growled a customer at an uptown grocery. "It used to be that you could carry a match up a pair of stairs." "You can carry that match up-stairs," said the grocer, "if you don't light it till you get to the top."—Philadelphia Record.

Make two cakes, one with Cleveland's baking powder; the second with any other.
Note the difference.
The Cleveland cake is fine grained, keeps its natural flavor and moisture; "the other" is coarse grained, as if the sugar was too coarse, soon dries out and becomes husky.
Cleveland's leavens best because its strength is produced by cream of tartar and soda only, not by ammonia or alum.

AMONG THE RAILROADS.

The Wheeling Strike is Ended and Operations Resumed.

Candidates for Railroad Commissioner—Hocking Valley Inspection—Other News of Interest.

The strike among the switchmen of the Wheeling & Lake Erie yards is ended and operations resumed once more.

The strike affected the Mackinaw as well as the Wheeling. The Mackinaw is at present in the hands of the United States court, which is one reason for the speedy termination of the trouble. Uncle Sam brooks no interference. After the injunction had been served on the men, Superintendent Woodford, O. P. Dumbar, master mechanic, of Norwalk, W. B. Stewart, master of transportation, of Norwalk, Jas. Riggs, general yeard master, of this city, and L. B. Lounsbury, local freight agent, all went to Ironville, and with the assistance of what few men could be employed, made up trains, and did a great deal to relieve the blockade. The station hands were idle, and the agent requested them to assist in switching the cars. They refused and were all summarily discharged.

Everything is quiet and running smoothly to-day. A number of new men have been employed, and the work is going ahead without any disturbance. The company will continue to pay standard wages and as many old men will be taken back as will agree to the company's terms

Charles Griffith, the switchman who was arrested yesterday morning, was released this morning on his own recognizance.

Will Issue More Stock.

The stockholders of the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo road met in Columbus yesterday and decided to issue $2,500,000 of preferred stock, which is to take up $777,000 of 7 per cent. bonds, which fall due January 1, 1892.

A Leading Candidate.

There are several candidates for the office of state commissioner of railroad and telegraph under the new administration, but John McVean, of Cleveland, is the choice of a majority of the railroad men over the state. Mr. McVean was conductor for 28 years on the Erie, and is a railroad man in every sense of the word. He is intelligent, a hard worker, and possesses every qualification to serve the public well in the capacity of such an office.

C., H. V. & T. Inspection.

The first annual track inspection of the C., H. V. & T. will begin to-morrow. The inspection car will leave Columbus to-morrow morning for an inspection of the Toledo division. The Columbus divisions will be looked after next week. The inspection party, consisting of the following officials, will arrive in Toledo to-morrow evening: C. C. Waite, president; F. B. Sheldon, chief engineer; John P. Ramsey, engineer maintenance of way; W. H. Miller, master mechanic; A. E. Robbins, superintendent Toledo division; M. Stillwell, superintendent Hocking Valley and River divisions; T. R. Scanlan, general foreman bridges and buildings; T. W. Justus, clerk maintenance of way department; J. Brown, A. L. Donaldson, T. Murphy and T. J. Shannon, supervisors of No. 1, No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4.

Discharging All Minors.

A law is in force prohibiting the employment of minors by railroad companies.

In compliance with this law the Lake Shore is discharging all trainmen and switchmen and other like employes who are under the age of 21 years.

An Important Meeting.

General Passenger Agent Hall of the Wheeling & Lake Erie went to Chicago last evening to attend a special meeting of the passenger department of the Central Traffic association. Among the subjects to be considered is the retirement of mileage tickets trans-Atlantic steamship business, and second-class, or tourist sleeping cars.

Discussing Free Cartage.

A special meeting of the Chicago committee of the Central Traffic association is in session at Chicago to-day. The meeting was called for the consideration of the question of paying dray bills and switching charges for Chicago shippers.

HEIGHT OF COUNTRIES.

Humboldt estimated that Asia stands at an average hight of 1,150 feet above the level of the ocean; South America, 1,130; North America, 750; Europe, 670 feet. The average hight of all the land above sea level—omitting Africa and Australia, which are mostly south of the equator—is about 820 feet. The landed surface of the northern hemisphere is about 44,000,000 square miles; that of the southern hemisphere about 14,000,000 to 16,000,000 square miles, leaving a difference of say 28,000,000 square miles of land of an average hight of 920 feet above sea level.

AGREED ON A COMPROMISE.

The Celebrated Jameson-Equitable Life Case Out of Court.

Dublin, Nov. 13.—The suit of J. Eustace Jameson, of Dublin, well known distiller, against the Equitable Life Assurance society of New York, was decided to-day.

Mr. Jameson sued to recover the premiums paid on a policy for $50,000 in the company. He claimed that the agent secured his taking out a policy by representing that he would be made a member of the London board of directors of the company.

This promise was not carried out. The company set up the defense that the agent acted without authority from the home office and had no right to make such promises.

The matter was settled in court by the Equitable agreeing to return to Mr. Jameson the amount of premiums paid and to reimburse him for counsel fees. Mr. Jameson on the other hand agreeing not to press the charge further.

ST. JOHN-BAKER.

Quiet Home Wedding at 1723 Summit Street.

Last evening at 8 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents on Summit street, Miss Alta St. John, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex St. John, became the wife of Alva T. Baker, Rev. J. H. Bethards, pastor of Broadway M. E. church, performing the ceremony. There were no bridesmaids or groomsmen and the invited guests consisted of about fifty, relatives and near friends. Chrysanthemums formed the chief feature of the floral decorations. The bride was very lovely in white silk with pearl and lace trimmings.

The guests from abroad were Prof. Zerbe, of Heidleberg college, Miss Webster of Chicago, Mr. Ed. Baker, brother of the groom, from Columbus, O., Mr. C. Baker, also a brother from Rickwood, O., Mr. Hough, of California, Mrs. Crawford, of Delaware, O. Many and choice gifts were presented the young couple; a fine piano from the bride's parents, and beautiful tableware in cut glass and silver among the rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker went at once to their own home on Lawrence avenue, handsomely fitted up to receive them, and a world of good wishes go with them.

GETTLEMAN IN TROUBLE.

Toledo Ex-Gas Superintendent Played Poker and Now Squeals.

Herbert Gettle man was in the employ of the Toledo pipe line, but he loved poker, and lost his money that way. He now brings suit, by his attorneys, against James Heffleflinger, and Hoffman, Welsh and White, for the recovery of $1,708.30; and his wife, Margaret Gettleman, brings a similar suit for the recovery of $3,405.25, all of which it is claimed, the said James did lose at the aforesaid game, on the said premises, &c. The parties are all residents of Bowling Green, and the case will attract much attention, if it comes to trial, although such suits are most likely to be compromised before that point is reached. A similar case is on trial before the Mayor of that village to recover $60 from the same parties, and for the same cause.—Findlay Jeffersonian.

PROPOSED OIL LINE

To Supply Factories and Other Institutions in the City.

An oil line that will supply numerous factories along Water street and in the vicinity is being discussed.

Mr. Homer T. Yarvan favors the idea. He says with a reservoir near the Oliver house a 2-inch line could supply both the electric power houses on Water street, the Toledo Electric works and quite a number of other institutions.

Mr. F. B. Dodge also favors the idea and says the matter has been talked up some but no definite action has yet been taken.

A COMMON SENSE REMEDY.

In the matter of curatives what you want is something that will do its work while you continue to do yours—a remedy that will give you no inconvenience nor interfere with your business. Such a remedy is Allcock's Porouse Plasters. These plasters are not an experiment; they have been in use for over thirty years, and their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by testimonials from those who have used them. They require no change of diet and are not affected by wet or cold. Their action does not interfere with labor or business; you can toil and yet be cured while hard at work. They are so pure that the youngest, the oldest, the most delicate person of either sex can use them with great benefit.

Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Ask for Allcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

HEROIC CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS

Mr. H. H. Bancroft, in his "Indian Races on the Pacific Coast," gives an account of the way in which the ancient Aztecs treated drunkenness.

The young man who became drunk was conveyed to jail and there beaten to death with clubs; the young woman was stoned to death. In some parts, if the drunkard was a plebian, he was sold for a slave for the first offense, and suffered death for the second; at other times the offender's hair was cut off in the public market place; he was then lashed through the streets, and, finally, his house was razed to the ground, because, they said, one who would give up his reason to strong drink was unworthy to possess a house and be numbered among respectable citizens.

Cutting off the hair was a mode of punishment frequently resorted to by these people, and so deep was the degradation supposed to be attached to it that it was dreaded almost equally with death itself.

Should a military man who had gained distinction in the war become drunk, he was deprived of his rank and honors, and considered thenceforth as infamous. Conviction of this crime rendered the culprit ineligible for all future emoluments, and especially was he debarred from holding any public office.

A noble was invariably hanged for the first offense, his body being afterwards dragged without the city limits of the town and cast into a stream used for that purpose only.

WHO INVENTED THE CIGAR?

It is not at all certain that the white race has a prior claim upon the invention of the cigar. In all parts of New Guinea, the largest island in the world that has yet been visited, tobacco is cultivated, and in some of these districts the humble pipe contributes nothing to the enjoyment of the weed and is not even known. Dr. Maclay saw natives with crude looking cigars in their mouths who had never seen a white man before, and thought he had dropped from the sky.

Dr. Finsch, who some years later explored the coast for hundreds of miles, says the natives of the whole northeast coast of New Guinea, though inveterate smokers, had never heard of a pipe, and returned those which he gave them as articles for which they had no use. He says they roll the partly dried leaves into a rude cigar, and, not being blessed with Havana wrappers, they tie around their cigar a large green leaf from a tree.

Doubtless the vilest weeds sold on the Bowery are superior to those products of Papuan ingenuity, which hold fire so poorly that a live coal is always kept at hand to revivify them. But they suit the native taste, and the people seem to native taste, and the people seem to rethrough a pipe stem as belonging to an inferior race of human beings.—Goldthwaite's Geographical Magazine.

DOCTORS FRANCE AND OTTMAN,
Formerly of New York, now of the France Medical and Surgical Institute, Columbus, Ohio, by request of many friends and patients, has decided to visit
TOLEDO, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 25.
Consultation and Examination Free and Strictly Confidential in this Private Parlor of the Stillson House from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. one day only.
The Doctors describe the different diseases better than the sick can themselves. It is a wonderful gift for any one to possess. Their diagnostic powers have created wonders throughout the country.
The France Medical and Surgical Institute of Columbus, Ohio, is the only Medical Institute in the state incorporated with a capital of $100,000.

FRANCE MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE,
38 & 40 W. Gay St., one block N. of State House, Columbus, O. Incorporated, 1886. Capital, $300,000.
DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, of New York, the well known and successful Specialists in Chronic Diseases and Diseases of the Eye and Ear, on account of their large practice in Ohio, have established the FRANCE MEDICAL INSTITUTE, where all forms of Chronic, Nervous and Private Diseases will be successfully treated on the most Scientific principles. They are ably assisted by a full corps of eminent Physicians and Surgeons, each one being a well known specialist in his profession.
CANCER positively cured without pain or use of the knife, by a new method.
IMPORTANT TO LADIES.—DR. FRANCE, after years of experience, has discovered the greatest cure known for all diseases peculiar to the sex. Female diseases positively cured by the new remedy, OLIVE BLOSSOM. The cure is effected by home treatment. Entirely harmless and easily applied. Consultation Free and Strictly Confidential. Correspondence promptly answered.

YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.
DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, prostration, nervousness, lassitude, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.
TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important case, and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, rich and poor. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.
MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.
PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that desolitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed. Medicines sent free from observation to all parts of the United States.
EPILEPSY OR FITS—Positively cured by a new and never-failing method. Testimonials furnished.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.
Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.
WONDERFUL CURES Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible, personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. No risks incurred.
☞Cases and correspondence confidential. Treatment sent C. O. D. to any part of U. S. List of 130 questions free. Address, with postage, DR. FRANCE, Nos. 38 and 40 W. Gay St., Columbus, O.

TOLEDO, OHIO, NOV. 13, 1891.

Why not run Flickinger for speaker? He can command more votes than Griffin.

Private Dalzell says Charley Foster is a great deal nearer the senate than Foraker is. Sometimes Dalzell tells the truth.

Charley Griffin stakes his all on the speakership, and there are persons who believe he will lose all.

The thirteen senators and representatives from Hamilton county have declared for Foraker. That is a good home start.

Another gigantic smuggling scheme unearthed. Strange, isn't it, when "the foreigner pays the tax" that men will run the risk of getting into the penitentiary to avoid it.

Having failed to deliver Representative Flickinger's vote the anti-Sherman men are making an onslaught on Representative Heller, and they boast on the street that they will fetch him. Perhaps, but maybe not.

Hon. John A. McMahon, of Dayton, one of the ablest lawyers in Ohio, and who was a leading candidate against Senator Brice two years ago, says there is not a shadow of doubt as to the senator's clear title to his seat. McMahon is a constitutional lawyer and knows what he is talking about.

For a real good act of lying commend us to a long-faced hypocritical politician, for instance that fool Elliot Shepard. This pious rascal has been figuring election expenses and announces that Flower spent $4,150,000 to be elected governor of New York, which is just $4,145,000 more than the amount which Flower says he expended.

Major McKinley is in New York, as he says, for rest and a change. Upon being asked by a reporter if he intended being a candidate for president he replied, that "the governorship was his ambition, and he proposed seeing how good a governor he could make now that he had the opportunity." Good words, frankly spoken, Governor. The people of Ohio are confident you will honestly endeavor to do all you promise.

Donn Piatt is dead. The mere mention of his name carries the older Ohio newspaper readers back a generation. Long before the war he had obtained more than state distinction as an incisive political writer. His old Mac-o-cheek Press rung with vigorous denunciation of men and things he did not approve. Fearless and free, honest and brave, he drew his own lines on the trestle board of politics and built to his own plans. In Washington as editor of the Capital he exposed the shames and deceits and conspiracies of republicanism with force and effectiveness. As editor of Belford's Magazine he was vigorous in expression and strong in condemning modern political methods. He died at Mac-o-cheek, in Logan county, this state, and will be buried there. He was a rugged type of the old school of politics, a worker and never an office seeker.

The farmers in congress in Sedalia, Mo., in addresses at least, had no good words at all for government ownership of railroads. Congressman Heard, of the Sixth Missouri congressional district in the paper on this topic said he believed government ownership of railroads would be a gigantic failure. The two objections stated were that the roads would cost the country more money than it had in circulation, and that government railway control would necessitate the appointment of an army of federal officeholders. A Georgia delegate said his state had tried it in one instance and rates were higher on that road, its business was poorly managed and patrons were glad when it passed under the control of private parties again. Advocates of this measure expected different testimony from the farmers.

The contest for the judgeship in the Defiance, Williams and Paulding district was so close between Judge Sutphen, the present incumbent, and Mr W. N. Snook, the republican candidate, that the result was in doubt several days. The official canvass gave the election to Judge Sutphen by eleven majority. No partisanship could be charged against the election boards as under the new ballot law the boards are non-partisan. Still, there was a doubt in the minds of many as to the actual result, a few ballots in Williams county being in dispute. In this emergency Mr. Snook and Judge Sutphen, who are personal freinds, agreed to mutually inspect the disputed ballots and whichever was entitled to them should have the election without further dispute or contest. They did examine the ballots together and found that Judge Sutphen clearly had eight majority in the district. As an honorable man Mr. Snook acquiesced in the result. Now some radical republicans, for partisan reasons only, propose instituting contest proceedings before the senate, and boast that Judge Sutphen will be ousted. Very likely such revolutionary methods would succeed, but men who would prostitute the judiciary to such base ends have little of that fine sense of honor which makes the judiciary reputable and dignified and honorable.

Congressman Springer, an earnest candidate for the speakership, has been talking freely for New York newspapers. He believes the tariff question will be the first to receive the attention of the new congress. He would advise a looking after preliminary matters before the work of revision is entered upon. He would increase the committee and appoint subcommittees authoried to make special investigations concerning the tariff needs of manufacuring industries, and the forming of combinations to restrict production and enhance prices. He believes the people have a right to know the labor cost of production of articles that are protected, the difference between that cost here and in foreign factories, and the difference between wage labor there and here, and how, if at all, it is affected by the tariff. He would have a searching investigation and a thorough understanding of these questions, and the result given to the people before any tariff revision was entered upon. He would put wool on the free list, repealing also the duty to compensate woolen manufacturers for the higher price they pay by reason of this tariff on foreign material. Such a measure, by itself, Mr. Springer believes, would pass both houses. He is in favor of free trade with Canada and Mexico, and says, without equivocation, he would not adopt the Reed code of rules for the House, and he believes substantial reduction may be made in appropriation bills. This is plainly put forth. In the speaker's chair or at a member's desk, these views are reassuring for the democracy and the country.

There appears to be a devilish method with some eastern newspapers, notably the World and Advertiser, to nag Ohio democrats upon their defeat last week. Presumably by instruction, the Columbus correspondents of these journals are prodding Senator Brice for not putting his hands in his pockets and handing over thousands upon thousands of dollars to elect the whole democratic ticket. Bless their disturbed souls, for every dollar that Brice and any other liberal democrats might have furnished, the tariff barons of Pennsylvania would have put up ten to help elect the republican ticket. McKinley was their candidate. They owed him his election and they gave it to him. And, besides, why should Col. Brice be asked singly and alone to contribute enough money to carry eighty-eight separate county campaigns? Didn't he do well enough in 1889 and 1890 to earn a little rest? Do the growlers recall the praise we all accorded Col. Brice for his splendid service in the doubtful congressional districts last year? It is the extreme of ungratefulness to reproach him now. If we had more leaders like Brice we would have a compact, solid and reliable organization in Ohio to redeem the state from republican rule. It ill becomes the eastern papers to lend their columns to abuse the one man among Ohio democrats who has done so much personal service for the cause of democracy the past few years.

A dispatch from Washington yesterday gives out that Great Britain is at the bottom of all this trouble in Chili and Brazil, and the prime motive is the reciprocity treaties between those countries and the United States. The British have large moneyed interests in those countries, and it would be not at all strange if they were looking out for themselves, primarily. They are also making large investments in this portion of the American continent. Mines, factories, breweries and great landed estates are passing into the hands of English syndicates more especially since the tariff rates have been increased and there is prospect of large opportunities in certain lines, aided by a thrifty, industrious laboring class with great natural resources behind it. Yesterday's commercial journals report the sale of iron properties to a London syndicate, involving the sum of £1,000,000. The properties listed are the New Jersey Steel and Iron works, of Trenton; the Trenton Iron company and the wire mills in Trenton; the Durham Iron works, furnaces and mines in Durham, Pa.; the Passaic Rolling mills in Paterson and the Warren Iron company, of Hackettstown.

Aren't these alarmists concerned for their own? Is there danger in the future of English meddling with Amrican affairs? Where a man's money is planted there he also stakes his patriotism and it takes color accordingly. If Americans purpose measures that interfere with their "vested rights," they will be in the plot as much as in Chili and Brazil. These are logical conclusions if the premises are valid.

Mr. Frederick Guernsey, editor of the Mexican Financier, talks about the prospects of his country in an eastern paper in most enthusiastic fashion. President Diaz is as devoted to his duty, he says, as the editor of any daily newspaper and works as busily, and Madame Diaz "is the Mrs. Cleveland of Mexico." New industries and public schools are being built up all over the country and evidences of progress are visible on every hand. A great deal of American capital is invested in Mexico, notably in the railroads already completed and in progress. The finances of the government are in sound condition and great interest is manifested in the approaching world's fair. Now then, Uncle Sam, reach out your hand for a good friendly shake. When an editor says these things they are worthy attention.

The designs for Uncle Sam's new coins with a "Liberty head in a Parygian cap" are being sharply criticised. Artists say the eagle is overburdened, with olive branch and arrows in his claws, a shield upon his breast and "E pluribus unum" in his beak. It answered for 1782, but we have learned a little art since then. But we won't quarrel with the pictures, if only we can get enough of them.

SMALL BUSINESS

Before Several of the Council committees Last Evening.

The councilmen who attended the committee meetings last evening were very slow at getting down to business, and but little business was done.

The committee on plats approved a plat sub-dividing part of Daniels' addition and a plat of property on Oak street, near Navarre avenue.

Mr. Luther Raymer appeared before the committee with a plat of property near the Malleable Iron Works. The committee wanted Genessee street 60 feet wide and made one or two other suggestions which will be acted upon before the plat is approved.

The street committee indulged in but little talk and approved the following legislation without debate: resolution to improve Division street from Vance to Wabash street; resolution to improve Page street from Lagrange to Elm; ordinance to improve Segur avenue east of Bloomfield street; ordinance to grade Newberry street from Broadway to Lorain, and an ordinance to improve Knower street from Dix to Sumner street.

The sidewalk committee met and approved legislation for a number of new walks. H. P. Platt appeared before the committee and asked relief from a sidewalk assessment, but the matter was referred to the judiciary committee.

VETERAN REUNION.

G. A. R. Posts of Several Ohio Counties Meet at Mansfield.

Mansfield, O., Nov. 13.—The G. A. R. posts of the Nineteenth district, composing the counties of Ashland, Crawford, Richland and Wyandot, held a reunion and a campfire in this city yesterday, which was largely attended by veterans.

Department Commander General A. M. Warner arrived yesterday afternoon, and was escorted to Memorial opera house, where exercises were held afternoon and evening.

The address of welcome was delivered by ex-Mayor George O. Clogston, and response was made by Col. Wallace Stahle, of Crestline. The principal address was delivered by Gen. Warner.

Last night the campfire was continued by a program including the rendition of patriotic songs and recitations and a fancy drill of 25 little girls under command of Col. B. J. Aurand.

BUCYRUS NOTES.

Good Templars Install Officers—Scarcity of Fuel.

Bucyrus, O., Nov. 13.—(Special)—Good Templars have installed officers as follows: Chief templar, Gilbert Lowmiller; vice-templar, Alice Hueneka; chaplain, Wm. Carls; secretary, Chas. Reeve; assistant secretary, Rica Wurtemburger; marshal, Frank Bryant; deputy marshal, Anna Foulke; financial secretary, Cora Mollenkopf; treasurer, Philip Kile; guard, Israel Greenich; sentinel, Jay Carls.

The aluminum factory may be forced to leave here on account of the high price of gas fuel. Marion, Ind., is the objective point if a change is made.

DELIBERATE FALSEHOOD.

Dublin, Nov. 13.—The National Press referring to Mr. Timothy Harrington's statements that Mr. Wm. O'Brien had not published the Parnell correspondence in its entirety, says that they bear upon their face the "stamp of deliberate falsehood."

TROUBLE MADE HIM ILL.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—It is reported that the Minister of Finance Vishnegradsky is suffering from nervous prostration owing to the trouble about the Russian loan and the famine and that he will resign.

HE IS OUT FOR SHERMAN.

Columbus, O., Nov. 13.—Senator-elect Nichols, of Belmont county, is in the city looking up lodging for the winter and sizing up his chances for the temporary presidency of the senate. He is out for Sherman, but does not know how the Belmont county representative, Mr. Heinlein, will vote.

CHICAGO BY THE NOSE.

B. Harrison's Federal Office Holders

Raid the Town and Pass Some Resolutions.

They Declare That Chicago Does Not Want the National Republican Convention To Be Held Next Year.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(Special)—B. Harrison and his army of office seekers are leaving no stone unturned to secure the renomination of the man who has been famous by the fact that his grandfather had a hat.

It has long been known that the selection of Chicago as the convention city would be detrimental to the chances of the little man from Indiana, from the fact that the press and the masses of that city are opposed to him, and the recollection of the packed Gresham house of 1888 placed vividly before the president's mind the fact that in 1892 it might be similarly packed for the great man from Maine, Blaine. With this state of affairs in mind the administration sent out secret circulars to the faithful federal office holders telling them that the national convention must not be held in Chicago under any circumstances, and ordering them to build up a sentiment to that effect.

How well the instructions have been carried out is shown by the fact that yesterday afternoon a "public" meeting was held in the parlors of the Grand Pacific and the question of the convention was discussed.

There were about 150 persons present, fully 100 of whom were from outside the city of Chicago.

These assembled people organized and adopted the following resolutions:

"Whereas, Chicago has been specially honored in being selected as the place for holding the Columbian exposition, and

"Whereas, The choice was largely due to the friendly support of the representatives in congress of the great central empire that developed and made Chicago possible; therefore

"Resolved, That in grateful appreciation of the aid rendered in securing the Columbian exposition, Chicago is not a competitor for the next national republican convention.

"Resolved, In the event the national republican committee should select this city as the place for the convention, the Hon. Wm. J. Campbell, member of the national committee from Illinois, is authorized to state that Chicago will liberally provide for its accommodation."

The resolutions were immediately wired to B. Harrison and the smile that chased itself over his countenance conveyed every evidence that the chief was well pleased with the work done by his subordinates.

But just how Chicago people will like the idea of having one hundred and fifty federal office holders run the town and speak for the city and its interests remains to be seen.

BASE BALL.

The Work of the National League in New York.

New York, Nov. 13.—The National Base Ball league resumed its annual business at noon yesterday, and the question of percentages and passes came up. Some of the clubs in the larger cities regarded it as hardly fair that they should have to pay the same percentage on the number of passes issued as the clubs in small cities like Pittsburg and Cleveland.

In cities like New York and Brooklyn, where passes have to be issued for the press of both and the call for free admissions are many, the percentage is considerably in excess of that in others.

Again, when passes are issued to the mayor or aldermen or other officials the managers are beginning to think it would be better to provide an entrance other than the common turnstile, and this was also discussed.

New York, Philadelphia and Brooklyn claimed that they had to issue at least five to one of the complimentary tickets issued by other cities. After a long discussion the matter was left just as it was, no vote being taken.

The question of dividing the receipts of games in which over three and less than five innings are played was another matter considered. In such games the home clubs have kept all the receipts, but the rule was changed so that in future visiting clubs will be entitled to the usual percentage.

A protest was entered by Pittsburg against New York signing Pitcher King, who was released from Pittsburg because that club would not pay him as much salary as he demanded. It was said that after King's release Pittsburg had notified other league clubs not to sign him. The league decided that there were no grounds upon which to base any charges against King, and New York will accordingly secure his services.

OUT AT AUBURNDALE.

Mr. Couture's children have the whooping cough.

Mrs. Jones, of Monroe street, is ill with malarial fever.

Mr. Ab Alderman, of Monroe street, is ill with typhoid fever.

The piping for city gas in Ransom's addition is nearly completed.

Robert Wilson is laying a foundation for a new home on Scott avenue.

A party of Auburndale gentlemen will go to northern Michigan to hunt.

Mrs. S. P. Meng and Miss Nellie Christian will visit Fremont friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Boschard are moving from the Whitney farm to Milburn avenue.

J. S. Bailey, of Norwalk, has been the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Al King.

The three houses building on Macomber street for Mr. Martin are nearly completed.

Mr. Bishop is contemplating building a number of stores between the Michigan Central railroad and Detroit avenue.

Postmaster Mason will go to Chicago next week to make arrangements for a bee keepers' exhibit at the world's fair.

J. T. Kellogg reports the real estate business flourishing. A large number of new houses are being built, beside several stores.

A new oil tank for the Milburn wagon works will be placed next week, this tank to be larger than the one they are now using.

The postoffice windows have been washed. One can now see in when they are outside and look out when they are inside of the office.

There is considerable sickness in Auburndale at the present time, and it is thought by many to be due to the drinking of impure well water.

Miss Carrie Paige, mother and sister, of Lakeside, formerly of Oberlin, will move to Auburndale, they having recently bought a house from Joseph Lindecker.

The Auburndale Savings and Loan company met Wednesday night. The association is flourishing, and they are having more applications than they can possibly attend to.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton are in New York, where they were called by the death of Mrs. Stratton's father. Mr. and Mrs Stratton will probably remain in New York a month or six weeks.

Mr. Charles Freeman was severely injured a few days ago, but is doing nicely at the present time. While Mr. Freeman was in the act of sawing a limb off a tree, it bent, and striking his head, inflicted an ugly wound.

Edward Chaffee, who was so seriously injured at the licorice works, and recently had his right arm amputated, is now rapidly recovering. The amputation of the broken arm undoubtedly saved his life. The surgeons, Drs. Wood and Orwig, made strenuous exertions to save the arm, but it was so badly crushed that healing proved impossible.

AGAINST LINDBLOM.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Robert Lindblom received a square knockout at the meeting of the board of trade yesterday which was called to disapprove or sanction the action of the directors in their stand against sending out quotations.

MENTIONED ON THE STREETS.

That Toledo may have a ball club next season.

That yachting interest may revive again next season.

That a new Polish paper is to be started in Toledo.

That an effort is being made to have Billy Cook pardoned.

That local huntsmen are creating quite a havoc among the quail.

That the Thanksgiving turkey is beginning to roost rather high.

That the K. of L. delegates are creating a good impression in Toledo.

That the jewelers are laying in an immense stock of bright silverware.

That a recent cocking main at Ten Mile creek was a rattling success.

That ex-Councilman Budtz is happy, now that his case has been nollied.

That Mr. Abe Colton will manage the steamer City of Toledo next season.

RESCUED THE CRAIG,

The Pratt Succeeded in Towing Her In.

She Was Helpless in the Heavy Sea Without Her Rudder and Will Be Detained a Week.

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 13.—The steamer Pratt arrived down with the disabled steamer John Craig. The Pratt, after taking her consort to an anchorage under Whitefish Point, turned back and succeeded in getting a line from the Craig and towing her under Whitefish Point. The Craig is totally disabled, her rudder stock having broken in the sleeve. She was towed alongside into the canal. It has not been decided whether she will be towed down or have a rudder made here, by which she would be detained about a week.

Notice to Mariners.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Notice is hereby given that the rear light at Niagara river range light station will be somewhat obscured by the new skeleton tower now in process of erection until the light can be transferred to that structure upon its completion

E. T. WOODWARD,
Commander U. S. N. and Inspector Tenth Lighthouse District.

Notice is given by the Lighthouse Board that the orders of October 27, addressed to the keepers of light vessels Nos. 56 and 57, on Simmons' and Gray's Reefs and White Shoal, Lake Michigan, have been amended to read as follows:

"You will remain on your station, if possible, until December 1, instead of November 25."

The Packer Released.

Alpena, Nov. 13.—The steamer Packer was released from Middle Island last night and brought to this port. Her rudder is unshipped, but she is not badly damaged, her pumps keeping her free. One hundred and fifty tons of her cargo was jettisoned.

A FOOL'S ADVICE.

Never argue with an angry woman or a setting hen.

Be progressive. Those who head the parade do not take the dust.

Beware of the person who is always looking on the dark side of things. An honest man has no use for a dark lantern and a jimmy.

He who waits for all things to come to him, under the impression that all things come to him who waits, will get fooled. Success seldom stops to tip the waiter.

The man who wants to get something for nothing is watching for another man on the same track; when they meet the confidence game is the result of it. Keep out of it.

A hard head sometimes passes for a wise one. If you are wise don't give yourself away.

It is always wise to appear patient when the other fellow is the larger.

Don't dispute the right of way with a cyclone.

Don't try to beat a man at his own game; the chances are that he understands it better than you do.

The theory to give and take is a great one, but never be so situated that you have to give excuses for taking what is not your own.—Texas Siftings.

A BOY'S STRANGE STORY.

After the defeat of the Chili government troops at the battle of Concon, Vina del Mar, near Valparaiso, a little lad of eight or nine years of age, hatless and barefooted, arrived in the town of Vina del Mar and gave a tolerably circumstantial account of the fight. At first his story was not believed, but little by little his tale was credited and listened to with astonishment that a child in his tender age should have been present at such a sanguinary encounter. He quite artlessly stated that when the San Fernando battalion left the town with banners flying and band playing he imagined the troops were going out to exercise, and followed them till he found himself on the field of battle. When the defeat and rout ensued he joined a group of stragglers and at last found his way back to Vina del Mar, by way of Quilpue, at which place somebody gave him a piece of bread and a drink of water.

A Newberry (Mich.) man named Bolton nearly cut a tree down and was advised to finish the job, but put it off. A few days after his wife was digging potatoes in the field and stopped under the tree to tie her shoe, when the old birch, without a warning, fell, killing her instantly.

DEDICATED A CASTLE.

A Number of Toledo K. P.'s and Their Ladies

Go To Whitehouse, Participate in a Parade, Enjoy a Supper and Ball and Have a Good Time Generally.

The neighboring town of Whitehouse was astir yesterday afternoon and evening, and as lively a day as has been enjoyed for some time was the result. The occasion was the dedication of the fine new Pythian castle which has just been completed. The good people of the village put out a liberal display of flags and bunting, and "Welcome" was to be heard and seen on all hands. Invitations were extended some time since to Toledo lodges and divisions, and in response to these over one hundred members of Custar and William Tell divisions, and representatives of the lodges, with a fair sprinkling of ladies, left on a special over the Wabash at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon for the scene of the festivities.

Arriving at Whitehouse, the Toledoans were met at the depot by the Cornet Band, under direction of Dr. J. H. Spicer, and escorted to the building. At 3:30 a parade was formed, amid headed by Hons. O. P. Heller and John Weckerly, a tour of the village was made. It was a very creditable procession, and the movements of the uniformed divisions were highly complimented. On the return to the hall, the ceremonies of dedication were proceeded with before an audience which packed the building, not even standing room being obtained by many.

After a selection by the band, Hon. O. P. Heller, who had been appointed as chairman of the day, called the gathering to order, in a few happy remarks, and introduced Mr. J. L. Pray, who delivered an eloquent address of welcome, in which the good work sought to be accomplished by societies of Pythians and kindred character was well stated. Following this, President Demuth presented the building for dedication. Thanks were expressed on the part of the visitors by Past Grand Chancellor Beatty for the cordial welcome and kindly greeting received, and at once took up the regular work of dedication. In this he was assisted by Col. James Austin, jr., as vice-chancellor, Capt. J. M. Weier as past chancellor, Elmer Dale as master-at-arms, and Hon. John W. Winn, of Defiance, as prelate. The ritualistic exercises proved interesting and were completed without a hitch.

Mr. Heller next introduced Col. Austin, who spoke on "Ohio as a Progressive Jurisdiction;" Col. S. A. Court, Grand Keeper of Records, who talked on "What the Records Will Show," and Mr. Winn on the subject "What other Villages will do to equal Whitehouse's Work." The three speakers were in their happiest mood, and kept the audience in good humor for more than an hour.

The Whitehouse ladies had prepared a bountiful feast of good things in a large hall, and thither the entire company repaired for supper. Every attention was paid to the visitors, and "Can't do anything more for you?" was the question frequently heard.

At 8 o'clock a band concert was given at King's hall, and at 9 the grand march for the dedication ball was taken up, led by Mr. Court and Ed Dyer. An oyster supper was served at 11 o'clock. Dancing was kept up until a late hour. The crowd was so great that it was necessary to secure music and start another dance at the castle, while many engaged in cards and social conversation in the lodge room. It was after 12 o'clock when the "special" started on its return to Toledo, and the entire party was favorable to the proposition that a more pleasant time had rarely been enjoyed.

The committee on arrangements consisted of Dr. J. H. Spicer, Sylvester Strohl, John Weckerly, D. E. Tilton, and C. B. Demuth, and they are to be congratulated on the happy termination of their labors.

Whitehouse lodge was instituted last year, and the members at once considered the feasibility of securing a home of their own. In a short time the property was purchased, and Col. Austin, of this city, laid the corner stone, which, it may be said, was donated by Mr. Albert Neukom, of Toledo, an enthusiastic Pythian. Yesterday witnessed the consummation of the labors of the building board, who are A. D. Demuth, president; H. Longnecker, vice-president; L. W. Goodman, treasurer; Sylvester Strohl, secretary; Peter Mallendick. The structure is 26 by 66, two stories high, with a large tower. The first floor is arranged for a store, and the second for lodge purposes, with ante-rooms, etc. The spirit manifested by the brethern at Whitehouse can be safely commended, not to other villages only, but to many cites in the state.

A Few Notes.

It took two halls to accommodate the dancers.

Hon. O. P. Heller was an excellent presiding officer.

Nearly every Toledo lodge was represented at the dedication.

Of course Moses Math was there and missed but few dances.

The Whitehouse lodge has a membership of 63, and is still on the move.

The Whitehouse Cornet band furnished some fine music afternoon and evening.

Infirmary Director Herman Baumbach was with the party and felt young once more.

Much of the success attained in getting up the crowd is due to the Jolly Elmer Dale, of Lucas lodge.

Senator Geyser contemplates renting the store in the new Pythian castle for a branch of his Swanton house.

John Winn and Col. Court sang the Larboard Watch for the boys and cleared the house before completing the first verse.

Even the austere Bob French was in a playful mood last night. This is also true of Sam Dare, who is always so quiet as to provoke comment.

The Robisons had Belt and Huron street cars at the Union depot to convey the excursionists to their homes, an accommodation much appreciated.

Mrs. E. M. Dyer, Miss Fannie Dyer, Miss Lucy Krieger, Miss Baumbach, Mrs. Farnsworth, Mrs. G. D. O'Neill, and other ladies attended the ball.

The boys purchased a liberal supply of bologna and shipped it by express, c. o. d., to Albert Neukom. Mr. Neukom is regarded as a good judge of bologna.

The parade was headed by the two recently opposing candidates for the legislature, Hon. John Weckerly and Hon. Hon. O. P. Heller. This is a great country.

"W-h-i-t-h-o-u-s-e" was the cry of a crowd headed by Charley Bargman, and all who came in their way were compelled to mount a chair and sing a song or make a speech.

Albert Neukom was presented with a full-grown chicken by the Whitehouse boys as a mark of appreciation for his gift of the corner-stone. He had considerable difficulty in keeping it.

Senator Ryan, Commissioner Pray, Senator Geyser, Hon. O. P. Heller, Dr. Spicer and John Weckerly, in fact the people generally, did everything in their power to make the stay of the visitors pleasant.

CRIME DECREASING.

All the criminal returns published of late have happily tended to show that crime is decreasing, says the London Telegraph. The judicial statistics for the past year bear the same testimony. Whether under the head of "criminal classes at large" or "in local and convict prisons and reformatories," the figures show a steady decline. The same is true of the houses of bad character, by which is meant such as are the resort of thieves, depredators and suspected persons. In England and Wales there are 2,688 houses of this description. It seems rather odd to be told that of these 345 are public houses and 265 beer shops, because, if they are known resorts of such characters, why are their licenses not withdrawn? Is it for the reason once given by a French administrator that they serve the ends of the law by providing places where those who are wanted by the police can easily be found? The known houses of receivers of stolen goods had declined from 778 two years ago to 724 last year.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

Evans and Hoey Last Night—Emerson's Minstrels To-night.

Evans and Hoey always draw a crowded house in Toledo, and their reception at the Wheeler opera house last evening was no exception. "A Parlor Match" has been played here many times, but it seems never to grow old, but is made better each year.

Evans as "I. McCorker," and Hoey as "Old Hoss," the greatest tramp character on the stage, were very funny, as usual. The "Innocent Kidd" of Minnie French is a very clever bit of work, and her songs and dances were highly appreciated.

James T. Galloway, as "Captain Kidd," is another good character and created many a laugh. The specialties of the Levey Sisters were very good, and these handsome young women have improved their stage presence considerable. The remainder of the company was fair.

Emerson's Minstrels.

The Emerson minstrels, which appear at the Wheeler this evening, is unquestionably one of the finest minstrel organizations ever put on the road. The name of Billy Emerson itself, coupled with that of Haverly, who has no equal as a manager, will draw immensely. At St. Louis for one week the people packed the Olympic theatre, and at Chicago hundreds were turned away nightly. Mr. Haverly conducts every performance himself.

In addition to the only Emerson the company includes the great ventriloquest, Harry Kennedy, the man who, standing on the opposite side of the street, made a china dog in the foyer of a London theater, bark so loudly that an overzealous policeman broke the ornament into a thousand fragments because it wouldn't "move on;" the coming funny man of the age, Jerry Hart; the peerless burlesquer, Harry Constantine, and those silent grotesque elastiques famous all over the world, Griffin and Marks. Other attractions are the great dancing octette, among them Nestor and Nestor, and Crawford and Crawford, and those noted unapproachable artists, the original Harding and little Ah Sid, whose "Fun in a Wash House" has made thousands laugh. There was a five-minute pause for laughter to subside on their opening at Chicago before they came on—"Drop a Penny in the Slot and Get a Clean Shirt."

It is seldom if ever before that a minstrel company furnished an octette of such well known celebrities, Thatcher, Hibbert, Davis, Earle, Evans, Taylor, Reynolds and Yodler Denton.

RUSSIAN CHILDREN

In the Ural Mountains In Winter.

But everything is very different when the terrible Russian frosts sets in, and hill and valley alike become one great sheet of white. Very bare and dreary do these green, sunny slopes look in the winter months, with a few leafless trees standing gauntly up through the drifts, and the fierce, cold wind howling down the passes, driving great showers of snow along with it. No more light clothing, no more bare heads then. Every one, whether a child or grown-up, is muffled in a great thick sheepskin frock reaching down to the feet, with a big collar turning up all round the face, till you can hardly see who it is.

But the little Russians are not afraid of the cold, and have amusements in winter as well as in summer. When the sun is bright, and there is no snow falling, they can go out upon the hills with their sleds—for they have sleds there, of course, and these little mountain-people are as quite fond of them, and as clever in managing them, as any children in the world. Famous sliding do they have down these great slopes, and fine rosy faces do they win by it, and wonderful appetites do they carry home with them to their suppers of brown bread and kasha (buckwheat porridge mixed with butter,) after the fun is over.

And in the stormy evenings, when the grim northeast wind comes howling over the wild, lonely mountains, bringing with it all the cold of the frozen wastes of Siberia, when the great flakes are falling so thick and fast that no one can see an inch beyond the window, and far up among the hills you can hear at times the crash of a tree breaking down under the weight of the snow,—then is the time for the little folks to cuddle around the warm stove, and to roast chestnuts in the embers, and for the older boys to make baskets or twist ropes, and for the bigger girls to plait straw mats. And then their old grandmother, sitting at her spinning, on a stool in the warmest corner, with a red handkerchief around her dark, wrinkled old face, which looks just like an oak-carving, will tell them some quaint old fairy tale or some story out of Russian history—perhaps about Ivan Veliki, who beat the Tartars, or Peter the Great, who built St. Petersburg, or the brave men who burned their great city of Moscow to drive away Napoleon.

Sometimes the children take their turn, and sing a funny little song about the "white geese," as they call the snowflakes:

Daddy, daddy Winter,
Let your white geese fly;
Send the wind to drive them
All across the sky!

Bend the tossing pine-trees,
Make the hard earth split—
Snug around the fireside
We don't fear a bit!

And I don't suppose they do; for in spite of their wild country and their rough climate, these little Russians are a very merry race indeed.—David Ker, in St. Nicholas for November.

Sam Jones has been accounted for in the following: He was a drayman in Atlanta before he became a preacher, and his outfit is described as a "small, rickety, rambling, ramshackling wagon and a sorrel horse that was old and experienced enough to have come down from the revolutionary war."

CHEATING IN HORSE BLANKETS
Nearly every pattern of 5/A Horse Blanket is imitated in color and style. In most cases the imitation looks just as good as the genuine, but it hasn't the warp threads, and so lacks strength, and while it sells for only a little less than the genuine it isn't worth one-half as much. NOVEMBER.

Like some fairy woman who hath lost
youth's charm,
Yet holds within her heart all goodly gifts,
November comes—when pale by storm's alarm,
Borne down by clouds, yet showing thro'
their rifts
Some hint of heaven's blue and sunshine's glow
Ere falls to earth her mantle soft of snow.

What matters then thro' hill and vale are bare?
She clothes them in a dainty garb of white;
Hangs every shrub with icy jewels rare,
And fills the land with echoes of delight
From merry sleigh-bells, and the rhythmic beat,
Upon the frozen road, of flying feet.

So comes Thanksgiving day—as it should come—
With cheerfulness and joy, and ringing bells;
With dear ones gathered round the hearth
of home,
While thro' the land a happy chorus swells
Which speaks a Nation's praise to God above,
In thankfulness for His protecting love!

Henry George's letter to the pope was one of the longest epistles of modern times. He tried to cover all of the ground. There is one good thing about Mr. George's controversies, he is always good humored and uses arguments instead of abuse.

The Vienna Congress of Analytical Chemists appointed a committee to consider whether sanitary control ought not to be extended to hair-dressers' shops and public baths, and whether the daily infection of combs and brushes used in shops and public places ought not to be made obligatory by legislation.

A rack railway seven miles in length is under construction on the Usui Mountain, Japan, to connect the termini of the state railway at Yokohama and Karnisawa. There are twenty-one tunnels—12,200 feet in length in all—along the line and the steepest grade is 1 to 15.

A very delicate and beautiful knitting work has been produced by the women of the Shetland Islands. A long shawl that weighed only two ounces and three-quarters was sold last year for $75. The finest wool is obtained by rueing—pulling out the fleece by the root from the live sheep.

What may be done in the way of a university in the West is shown in California. There have been 11,000 applications for admission as students to the new Leland Sanford, Jr., University in California. The Southwest is ripe for the establishment of a great university, and here or hereabouts is the place for it.

A man does not want in these days to figure in the role of being unpatriotic. General C. W. Field, of Washington, denies that he recently made a speech in Richmond in favor of unfurling the Confederate flag at the Chicago fair. The general was not at the meeting, and does not sympathize with the sentiments of the speech.

Queen Christiana, regent of Spain until the baby Alphonso attains his sixteenth year, is very much beloved by the Spanish people for her good sense and kindness of heart. She was an archduchess of Austria, and it is noteworthy that a foreigner should become so popular in a conservative country like Spain.

To the recent exploits of women explorers must be added the adventures of Mrs. Littledale, who accompanied her husband, an Englishman, on a two years' journey to Central Asia, during which they visited the Pamir plateau. They saw a great deal of the scattered tribes which inhabit that inhospitable region. It will be remembered that from the time of Marco Polo until 12 years ago no explorer had ever visited the Pamir.

A New York item says: Mr. Manton Marble, the retired journalist, who now spends his time abroad, has returned temporarily to New York. Mr. Marble's chief distinction now is that he plays whist better than almost any elderly person of his acquaintance, and from the occult art he derives some considerable income. It is said that Mr. Marble has come back to this country in the hope that he will be invited to write the national democratic platform for 1892.

BENJAMIN'S EYES OPEN.

Chicago Must Not Have the Convention.

He Too Well Remembers the Gresham Howl,

And Sees Wherein He Might Be Snowed Under by Packed Galleries and Opposition Newspapers.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The president's friends on the national committee will advocate either Omaha or Minneapolis as the place for holding the national convention when the committee meets here in two weeks, unless the president changes his mind.

At present he strongly prefers either of those towns to Chicago or Cincinnati, the only other places likely to be seriously considered, for San Francisco, with its limited telegraph facilities for newspapers east of the Rockies, is regarded as out of the question.

If the president is forced to choose between Chicago and Cincinnati he will take Cincinnati. He has not forgotten the hostility of the Chicago papers in 1888, when his representatives at the convention could not get Harrison news into the Chicago papers, even when they offered to pay advertising rates for its publication, especially as he has now only one really friendly newspaper there.

The fact that Cullom is a candidate, and Gresham a dark horse also deters him. Cincinnati he regards as better, because there is no local candidate and because McLean's two Blaine papers, although the only morning papers, are not influential.

He recognizes the fact that all Forraker's influence with the republican rowdies of Cincinnati would be against him; but, he thinks, even so, Cincinnati is preferable to Chicago.

The indications are that an unusually large number of delegates will come here on November 23 to lay before the republican national committee the claims of their respective cities to the honor of the republican convention in 1892. Chicago, Omaha, Cincinnati, Minneapolis and San Francisco have already entered, and it is understood that Tacoma will also strip for the race. The inducements which this hustling town will offer in addition to the usual boast of fine hotels, beautiful climate, unprejudiced political opinions, etc., include free railroad transportation for all delegates, alternates, newspaper representatives and prominent politicians. San Francisco is prepared to offer free rides to delegates only.

The Tacoma plan contemplates bringing delegates from the four corners of the country by trains that will meet at some central point like Omaha, whence they will move in a grand procession to the city on the sound.

GAS TRUSTEES' MEETING.

The Toledo Window Glass Company in Hard Luck.

Application for Gas Refused—More Streets To Be Piped—General Routine Work.

Mr. John Stollberg, president of the Toledo Window Glass company, appeared before the board of natural gas trustees with reference to gas for the works. He said the company had expended $3,000 in putting in a new furnace built expressly for gas, and with the understanding that they were to have gas at least for this year. He did not ask gas for smelting, but simply for five hours during the night to be used in the settling process.

He explained at length the circumstances under which the works were started. It was wholly a Toledo institution, operated and owned by Toledo people. Oil was being used successfully in melting, but in the clearing or settling purposes a light, clear, bottom heat was necessary, and this, owing to the construction of the oven, could only be secured with natural gas. Last year the company had about decided to leave Toledo, but remained on the strength of representations made by the trustees that the factory should have gas. They were paying out in wages about $1,200 a month, and this went directly to Toledo merchants. If gas was furnished from 9:30 p. m. to 2:30 a. m. it would do.

President Parsons explained that the board was as desirous of having Mr. Stollberg's money as Mr. Stollberg was to have the city's gas. The matter was finally referred to the manager to investigate and report.

The balance of the streets on which lines had been petitioned for was then taken up and disposed of.

A number of petitions for gas and lines were presented and discussed. Superintendent O'Herron recommended that no more contracts be made, as there were as many now as could be supplied.

It was decided to lay lines on the following streets:

Division, from Wisconsin to Missouri.
Broadway, from Jarvis 62 feet north.
Bloomfield, from Jarvis 150 feet south.
Brown, Earle 800 feet north.
Broadway, South Railroad avenue 60 feet south.
Detroit avenue, Bancroft to Monroe.
Monroe, from Detroit avenue to Smead avenue.
Smead, Monroe half way to Bancroft.
Floyd, Ashland to Collingwood avenues.
Forrer, from Division 65 feet east.
Forrer, Lenk to Ewing.
Gibbons, Western avenue to Wayne.
Wayne, to Lake Shore railroad to Dale.
Dale, from Wayne 200 feet.
Hicks, 200 feet east of M. C. railroad.
Hicks, Wells to Ewing.
Jarvis, Maumee avenue to west end of street.
Jarvis, Sumner 400 feet east of Bloomfield.
Lorlie and north side of Bancroft between Bancroft and terminus of Lorlie.
Lincoln avenue, from Lawrence 280 feet east.
Yates, from Walnut to Cherry, Monroe, Michigan 150 feet west.
Michigan, Bush to Stickney avenue.
Monroe, Thirteenth to Fourteenth.
Oakwood, Collingwood to Lawrence.
Peck, Locust to Walnut.
Ralph, Wayne to Railroad avenue.
Russell, Plymouth to White street.

The committee on city plant recommended the adoption of a report granting Graf Acklin a $2,500 contract for furnishing and laying pipe.

President Parsons opposed it on the grounds that it was illegal, the board having no right to make a contract for over $500 without advertising.

After the contract was amended so that the contract is let in sections of not over $500, the contract was awarded.

Superintendent O'Herron was authorized to instruct contractors on what streets to lay pipes hereafter.

The application of Baker, Smith & Baker for gas in an outlying addition was declined and the money presented to build the line ordered returned.

R. W. Smith was paid $1,500 on account of balance due on bill of extras for the Bancroft street line.

John L. Huff was awarded a contract to drill one or more wells as the board may direct.

A contract was also awarded to William McMahon & Co. to furnish and lay pipes. A proposition from the same firm to buy from the city at cost all the pipe on hand was accepted.

After the transaction of some general routine business the board adjourned.

Short breath, palpitation, pain in chest, weak or faint spells, smothering, cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure. Sold at druggists'. Free treatise by mail. Miles Med. Co., Elkhart, Ind.

WON'T INTERFERE.

The Board of Underwriters With the School Board—Resolutions Passed.

Secretary Lang of the board of underwriters said yesterday that the organization had no controversy with the school board and don't propose to have any.

Mr. Lang handed the reporter the following pertinent set of resolutions adopted by the Federal Insurance Superintendents and Commissioners at the recent convention at St. Louis:

Whereas, The fire waste of this country has reached the enormous figure of more than $100,000,000 per annum, and,

Whereas, It has been fully demonstrated that a large percentage of this stupendous consumption of the natural resources of the country is directly traceable to incendiarism faulty and even criminal building construction, the want of proper legal regulations for the selling and storing of combustibles, and the failure of municipal governments to enact and enforce ordinances against the use of fire-crackers and fireworks, therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that adequate laws should be enacted by the several states providing for official investigation of the causes of fires and providing for prosecutions when incendiarism or any criminal neglect is the cause of the fire.

"If the legislatures of the various states," said Mr. Lang, "will turn their attention to enacting adequate laws for the prevention of fires and permit natural competition among the insurance companies to regulate adequate rates for insurer and insured, they will be more likely to accomplish the greatest good for the greatest number, so far as the relations of the public to the insurance companies are concerned, than by studying and passing measures calculated to embarrass underwriters in the legitimate prosecution of their business."

MOTTOES ON BELLS.

Often Felicitous and Always Reverent—Who Paid for Them.

In pre-Reformation times bell mottoes were generally devised by the ecclesiastics, and were often felicitous, nearly always reverent. Later on, it frequently happened that the party paying for the bell decided as to the inscription, and when this was the case the virtues of the donor were seldom left unsung. Thus a bell at Bentley, Hampshire, is inscribed:

John Ever gave twenty pound
To meck me a losty sound.

Other mottoes of this kind which we have noted are:

Robert Forman collected the money for casting this bell;
I'll surely do my part as well
At proper time my voice I'll raise,
And sound to my subscribers' praise.

Several inscriptions on bells are of an amatory character. A very common inscription is the following, found in Coventry, Knaresborough, Northampton, and other places:

In wedlock's bands all ye who join
With hands your hearts unite,
So shall our tuneful tongues combine
To laud the nuptial rite.

On a couple of Lincolnshire bells—one of 1807, the other of 1808—we have the following:

When female virtue weds with manly worth
We catch the rapture and we spread it forth.

Very often the happy pair are reminded of the transitoriness of human existence, and of the end of all things. Here is a specimen of this kind of inscription from Bakewell (1798):

When men in Hymen's bands unite,
Our merry peals produce delight;
But when death goes his merry rounds
We send forth sad and solemn sounds.

A very suggestive inscription is that on the bell at Hough-on-the-Hill, Lincolnshire. It is dated 1638, and runs as follows:

When you do hear this mournful sound,
Prepare yourself for underground.

The largest of the Westminster Abbey bells bears this inscription:

Remember John Whitmell, Isabel, his wife, and William Rus, who first gave this bell. 1429.

New cast in July, 1599, and in April, 1738, Richard T. Lester, fecit.

A smaller bell in the same tower expresses a very laudable desire in the following lines:

Thomas Lester, London, made me,
And with the rest I will agree.
Seventeen hundred and forty-three.

In one of the Halifax (York) churches there is an inscription which has evidently been written by a warm supporter of royalty:

Feare God, honour the King,
For obedience is a verteous thing.
With sweetest voices will sing,
And loudly say, God save the King.

Each bell in a peal at St. Michael's, Coventry, if we are to judge from the mottoes, had a special use of his own. Thus No. 4 was evidently the workmen's bell:

I ring at six to let men know
When to and from their work to go.

No. 7 was the bell for summoning worshippers to church:

I ring to sermon with a lusty bombe,
That all may come and none may stay at home.

No. 8 was the fire bell, of which, too we have a specimen in the church at Sherborne:

Lord! quench this furious flame,
Arise, run put out the same.

One bell in All Saints', Northampton, says:

I mean to make it understood,
That though I'm little, yet I'm good.

While another of St. Ives says: "Arise and go about your business."

Punning inscriptions are not often to be met with. The following, found at Towchester, North Hants, may be held as belonging to this class:

Pull on, brave boys, I'm metal to the back,
But will be hanged before I crack.

A bellfounder named Pleasant used to put all sorts of punning mottoes on his bells, the following, also from Towchester, being a specimen:

When four this steeple long did hold,
They were the emblems of a scold,
No music,
But we shall see
What pleasant music six will be.

The great bell of Cologne Cathedral, known as the "Emperor Bell," has on one side inscribed a sextet in German, of which the translation is:

I am called the Emperor's bell;
I proclaim the Emperor's honour;
On the holy watch-tower I am placed.

I pray for the German Empire,
That peace and protection
God may ever grant to it.

It may be added that no less than twenty-two cannons taken from the French were assigned by the kaiser for the manufacture of this great bell.—Newberry Magazine.

The Fiji islands are not very populous, there being only 123,000 people there by the latest estimate. Cannibalism is not conducive to a rapid increase of the species.

SLOW IN COMING IN.

Meager Details of the Heavy Earthquake Shocks in Brazil.

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—Only meager details of the terrible earthquake in Japan are contained in the Japan Daily Herald of October 28, which was received yesterday.

The full extent of the damage was evidently not known at the time the edition was published. The account mentions interruption to the telegraph wires and the damage to electric light plants, and says the shock was so violent that small mantel seismographs could not record it.

The disturbance was first noted shortly before 7 o'clock in the morning. There was no sudden shock, it partaking of an easy rocking motion. The oscillations were from east to west and north to south.

TOILET HINTS.

A clear complexion is usually the result of health—not of cosmetics.

Cosmetics can be used in moderation to advantage, but they are never so perfect as the bloom which good health imparts.

A clear complexion is usually the result of good circulation, and good circulation is the steady flow of the blood through the system.

When the blood is sluggish and the mind depressed nothing is so beneficial as a pure medicinal stimulant, and nothing so thoroughly stimulates the circulation or keeps it in regular and perfect order as pure whiskey.

While there are many so-called whiskeys there is only one that is admitted to be a purely medicinal one; namely, Duffy's Pure Malt.

Druggists and grocers may try to argue to you that they make more money on cheap and inferior goods, but it is all of no use. Bear in mind that the one which has been tested, tried and proven by experience is the only certain one.

FATHER AND SON.

How Joe Jefferson Hates Mechanical Contrivances

On the Stage, While His Son Is An Ardent Apostle of Realism and Introduced the Tank in "A Dark Secret"—Joe Jefferson Off the Stage.

Mr. Charles B. Jefferson, manager of "A Dark Secret," which made such a success at the People theater, is a son of "Joe" Jefferson, the famous Rip Van Winkle, and though he does not inherit his father's great talent for acting, he has proven a most successful manager. More than that, he is a great apostle of realism and is the introducer of the tank in the drama and a number of other mechanical contrivances.

"The Dark Secret" languished until he put a tank in it, and since then it has thriven apace. That one experience made Mr. Charles Jefferson a firm believer in the business policy of giving the public whatever it demanded, good or bad, on the stage.

Maybe only his friends know that if there is any one thing Mr. Joseph Jefferson dislikes more than another it is scenery. Not but that he concedes that scenery is necessary adjunct to the profession in which he has done so much good work and been so long a brilliant star. He admits that it is well to have various sheets of canvas painted to represent interiors, exteriors, street scenes and forests to give a proper setting to the work of the actors He has no love, however, for modern stage realism, as it is called. He believes that theatergoers want to see good acting rather than revolving houses and other evidence of clever mechanical trickery.

As the great actor will be here next Wednesday with the Jefferson-Florence company, some reminiscences of him, told by his son, may be of interest. When Mr. Charles Jefferson broached the subject of a tank to his father the latter simply looked at him in silent disgust. A few days later, when the old comedian heard the scenes read in which the tank was to figure, he sighed and said:

"Well, my boy, it's bad, very bad; but I'm afraid they will have to go and see it. It's too bad, too bad. I suppose the public must suffer; they can't help themselves."

And then when they went down to the Academy of Music to look at the tank, very much against the actor's inclination, and the younger man, in his zeal in showing how the thing worked, fell in and had to swim out, then Mr. Joseph Jefferson said it was a just punishment. He then and there washed his hands of the tank, though not in it, and every other stage trick of a kindred nature.

A few months later Charles cornered his father alone one day and told him he had an important proposition to make.

"I have an idea," said he, "of how we can rejuvenate 'Rip' and make it one of the most popular successes of the day."

"More of your nonsense?"

"No nonsense at all. You say yourself that a play, to be perfectly done, the story of the play should be completely acted. Now in 'Rip' part of the story is told and not acted."

"What do you mean?"

"Why, Rip tells, you know, how he crosses the river, jumps in and saves the girl from drowning. Now why not act that instead of tell it? We could have a tank; you could come out in a boat and dive in to rescue the girl. The sight of Joe Jefferson climbing up a bank out of real water with a wet and limp girl in his arms would draw the public like a magnet. What do you think of it?"

"Joe" Jefferson said he thought it was the biggest piece of impudence it had been his misfortune to hear for a long time.

"I really think father was angry with me for the suggestion," said the manager, as he laughed over the remembrance.

It so happened that in a certain play in which Mr. Jefferson had appeared a few years since it was necessary to make use of a great deal of scenery. The stage effects were quite elaborate—for Jefferson—and the old comedian was not at all pleased thereat, but he admitted the necessity as gracefully as possible. One afternoon he went down to the Star theater to rehearse with his company and the scenery. Four hours afterward a friend met him on Broadway coming from the rehearsal and carrying a bunch of grapes that he had purchased early in the day and had carried around ever since.

"Well, how did the piece go?" asked the friend.

"I don't know. I've spent the afternoon dodging tack hammers." And he further intimated that dodging tack hammers was about all scenic rehearsals amounted to.

When a pair of real burglars were advertised to appear in The Stowaway Mr. Jefferson came to the city post haste from his country place. He went directly to his son's office and there was blood in his eye.

"Look here," said he in tones which he tried to make severe, "what's this I hear about two ex-convicts, what's their names, MacCoy Spikes and Kid Henry, going on the stage? Have you anything to do with it?"

His son pleaded innocence.

"That's right, my boy, don't do anything like that. I don't know what I should think of you, and, of course, you would not do it anyway. But I was afraid it was you."

Thousands upon thousands of people has "Joe" Jefferson amused in theaters all over the world. The public love him, and so magnetic is his manner that his pathos laden humor goes straight to one's heart. But such words are superfluous; the public knows all about him as a comedian on the stage. It is as a comedian in private life when out of the glare of the footlights, when he is simply Joseph Jefferson and not Bob Acres or Rip Van Winkle, that I would give a glimpse or two. In such a character his family and friends only know him. He is modest and retiring, carefully shuns society and avoids unnecessary publicity of all kinds.

"You Could Dive In."

His fund of dry humor and his quaint old fashioned, homely mannerisms are a never tiresome source of entertainment to those who are fortunate enough to be numbered among his acquaintances. He is also rather given to carrying apples around in his pocket and eating them at somewhat queer times. It is not an unusual sight to see him wander into a theatrical office, pull out a plump red apple, carefully pare it, cut it up and pass the pieces around.

Mr. Jefferson has a perfect horror of fast driving and of horses that go at a livelier gait than a walk. There is an old cabman on Madison square who drives as slow a looking beast as you can find in the city—one of those horses that seem to want to lean up against something and think about it. This cabby gets almost his entire living off Mr. Jefferson. The actor always patronizes him, not that he has any special liking for the man, but because he knows the horse could not go faster than a walk, no matter what happened. Nobody else will use the cab, and so it is always there in front of the Jefferson house whenever the actor wants to ride. He don't care a rap how it looks as long as it goes slow. His sons never tire of poking fun at him about his carriage.

A few weeks ago Mr. Jefferson had occasion to cross Boston. He got in a herdic and gave his directions. Every one who has ever been jounced around Boston in a herdic knows of the reckless speed at which the drivers go and the long chances a passenger runs of getting through alive, thanks to the electric cars, the sharp turns, the crooked ways and the crowded streets.

Bang! rattle and scrape went the herdic. Mr. Jefferson stood it as long as he could, and then wishing to put an emphatic stop to it and at the same time be polite he stuck his head out of the window and called:

"Here, you. Don't drive so confounded fast—if you please."

The veteran actor Coudlock is an old-time friend of Mr. Jefferson. The former was visiting at the latter's country seat on Buzzard's Bay last summer. Mr. Couldock is not a sailor and can find no enjoyment in a sail boat, while Mr. Jefferson is passionately fond of the water. He of "20 years ago" notoriety was induced to go out in a catboat one day, however. It was a scorching hot day, and began to rain soon after they got out. Mr. Couldock was perspiring and suffering no little inconvenience in the cabin. Finally he stuck his head out.

"I can't stand it down here," said he.

"Well, put on your oilskins and come up here. You won't get wet."

He did so and sat down beside Mr. Jefferson in the stern, who was sailing the boat home. A sharp wind was blowing directly from the house, about a mile distant, so that it was necessary to tack frequently. Every few minutes when it came time to put the helm over, Jefferson would nudge Couldock and tell him to look out for his head, as the boom was coming over. The old man kept ducking and dodging and getting mad all the while at the trouble he was being put to. At last with righteous wrath, he turned to Mr. Jefferson and said:

"So you are trying to make a fool of me, are you?"

"What do you mean?"

"What do I mean! I mean that there is your blasted house over there, and if you want to get me to it why don't you sail toward it instead of going back and forth out here? I can see what you are doing; you're trying to get me hit on the head with that stick of wood."

No amount of argument would convince Mr. Couldock that it was impossible to sail directly into the wind. As soon as he was landed he started for New York. He had all he wanted of Buzzard's Bay, he said. The next day Mr. Jefferson received a present from him of a compass.

Mr. Jefferson is a devoted disciple of Izaak Walton, and spends the most of his time every summer in fishing. He always has an eye open for fishing tackle and wants to buy every new variety of pole he sees. A few weeks ago he was on his way to a funeral with his sons when he happened to spy a particularly attractive fishing rod in a store window.

"Boys," said he in his best funeral voice, "I think I'll have time to buy that rod; let's go in. It may not be there when we come back."

By not overworking and keeping a close watch on his diet he retains his health and vigor to a remarkable degree. Then, too, he goes to bed early—that is, as early as an actor can. Half an hour after the performance is over he is in bed and asleep. He never stops to talk or eat anything after the theater, but goes home as fast as he can.

Mr. Jefferson's youngest son, Joseph Jefferson, jr., is also an actor, although he does not claim to be. He is in his father's company, and does very small parts, giving the most of his attention to the stage management. His brothers are given to making light of his histrionic abilities and whenever he speaks a line getting up and going out as though they couldn't stand it.

"Five generations have appeared on the stage of the Walnut Street theater in Philadelphia," said Mr. Charles Jefferson. "I don't think any other family in the business can say as much. You see, my great-grandfather was quite a good actor, and he appeared there when the house was first opened. Then my grandfather—he wasn't much of an actor, he was a scenic artist—but he appeared there a few times. Of course my father has acted there on hundreds of occasions, and when I was young, before I found out that I could not act, I appeared there myself in several different plays. Then, just to make the fifth generation sure, I took my children, all little girls, to the theater one night and father carried them in on his back in the scene where he plays with the children in Rip Van Winkle."

FACTS FROM FINDLAY.

A Movement To Secure a Public Building.

Verdict Found Against the City—Child Killed By a Falling Drill—General Mention.

Findlay, O., Nov. 13.—(Special)—A call has been issued for a public meeting in this city next Tuesday evening to compile statistics, formulate plans and do all that is possible to secure an appropriation for a suitable public building in this city. The meeting was called at the request of Hon. Dodge Hare, congressman-elect, who recognizes Findlay as the largest and most important city in his district and to redeem his promise made before his election that he would use all honorable means to secure the much-needed new building.

Verdict Against the City.

Yesterday a jury in Justice Arford's court awarded Alvin Thomas the sum of $200, the amount sued for against the city by a collision between his horse and buggy and the chemical engine, which was out for practice. The full particulars of the accident were given in the Bee at the time it happened.

Striking Out Eastward.

The management of the Findlay, Ft. Wayne & Western road about the first of December will put out a surveying corps to run a line from this city 60 miles to Greenwich, O., where they will gain a direct connection with Cleveland via Big Four, and also a direct line to Pittsburg and all the eastern cities. The present management of the company are gaining many friends by their manner of doing business by fulfilling every promise and paying cash promptly for all labor, etc. The new road is doing a nice business west via the Clover Leaf.

Child Killed.

A falling drill belonging to a well-drilling outfit and weighing about 500 pounds crushed out the life of little Harry, the 4-year-old son of Mrs. Dr. Charles Clark, at their home on Second street last evening. No one knows exactly how the sad affair occurred. The men had the drill propped up and while absent for a short time the little fellow, while playing, brought the ponderous iron down on him like a guillotine, killing him instantly. The drill was resting on his neck when found.

A Worthy Move.

The citizens of Findlay are trying to raise $10,000 to allow the firm of Mc. Mannus & Arhold to rebuild their elevator which burned down on Tuesday night. The men are very popular and their business was an important one as they were lareg dealers and buyers of grain.

A Good Move.

Chief of Police Myers is trying to rid the city of all suspicious characters on account of the many daring burglaries committed here. In the past two days over 25 of this class of undesirable citizens have been made to move on or go to the works if they return. Four extra tough men were fined $25 each by Mayor Meehan and sentenced to the Toledo works. This is a move in the right direction and should be kept up on this line all winter and not so many houses will be broken into.

Both air and water abound in microbes, or germs of disease, ready to infect the debilitated system. To impart that strength and vigor necessary to resist the effect of these pernicious atoms, no tonic blood-purifier equals Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

A JUDGE GIVING TESTIMONY

An Important Case Summed Up as Follows.

Chronic Catarrh—Twenty Years—Settled on Lungs—Could Get No Relief — Permanent Cure at Last.

New Vienna, Clinton Co., O.

Dr. S. B. Hartman & Co.—Gents: I take pleasure in testifying to your medicines. I have used about one bottle and a half, and can say I am a new man. Have had the catarrh about twenty years. Before I knew what it was it had settled on my lungs and breast, but can now say I am well. Was in the army; could get no medicine that would relieve me.

Yours, truly,
W. D. WILLIAMS,
Probate Judge of Clinton County.

While it is a fact that Pe-ru-na can be relied on to cure chronic catarrh in all stages and varieties, yet it is not often that it will so quickly cure a case of long standing as the above. Hence it is that so many patients fail in finding a cure because of their unwillingness to continue treatment long enough. Many people who have had chronic catarrh for five, ten, and even fifteen years, will follow treatment for a few weeks, and then, because they are not cured, give up in despair and try something else. These patients never follow any one treatment long enough to test its merits, and consequently never find a cure. It is a well-known law of disease that the longer it has run the more tenaciously it becomes fastened to its victim.

The difficulty with which catarrh is cured has led to the invention of a host of remedies which produce temporary relief only. The unthinking masses expect to find some remedy which will cure them in a few days, and to take advantage of this false hope many compounds which have instant but transient effect have been devised. The people try these catarrh cures one after another, but disappointment is the invariable result, until very many sincerely believe that no cure is possible.

Catarrh is a Systematic Disease, and, therefore, requires persistent internal treatment, sometimes for many months, before a permanent cure is effected. The mucous lining of the cavities of the head, throat, lungs, efc., are made up of a network of minute blood vessels called capillaries. The capillaries are very small elastic tubes which, in all cases of chronic catarrh, are congested or bulged out with blood so long that the elasticity of the tubes is entirely destroyed. The nerves which supply these capillaries with vitality are called the "vasa-motor" nerves. Any medicine to reach the real difficulty and exert the slightest curative action in any case of catarrh must operate directly on the vasa-motor system of nerves. As soon as these nerves become strengthened and stimulated by the action of a proper remedy they restore to the capillary vessels of the various mucous membranes of the body their nomal elasticity. Then, and only then, will the catarrh be permanently cured. Thus it will be seen that catarrh is not a blood disease, as many suppose, but rather a disease of the mucous blood vessels. This explains why it is that so many excellent blood medicines utterly fail to cure catarrh.

Colds, winter coughs, bronchitis, sore throat and pleurisy are all catarrhal affections, and consequently are quickly curable by Pe-ru-na. Each bottle of Pe-ru-na is accompanied by full directions for use, and is kept by most druggists. Get your druggist to order it for you if he does not already keep it.

LET FOREIGN CRITICS BEWARE.

They ought to be very careful not to chide us too severely for our lack of a national literature. If ever we should turn to and have one, there might be a serious risk of its becoming the literature of the whole race. There is no great danger of an event so mortifying at present, and we merely intimate its possibility as a warning to our critics not to press us too hard. If things should ever come to that pass, we notify them that not only will American parlance become the English language, but it will be spelled according to Noah Webster. The "traveller" will have to limp along on one l, and the man of "honour" will no longer point with pride of long descent to the Norman-French u in his last syllable.—William Dean Howells, in Harper's for November.

Toledo, O., Oct. 15, 1891.

The committee on ways and means of the common council of the city of Toledo, Ohio, and the undersigned, invite sealed proposals at this office to at 7 o'clock p. m. for the purchase of sewer improvement bonds, to the amount of one thousand six hundred and fifty ($1,650 00) dollars, bearing date August 10, 1891, and payable as follows: Two hundred and seventy-five dollars on February 10, 1892, and two hundred and seventy-five dollars at the expiration of every six months thereafter, to and including August 10, 1894. At the office of the city treasurer, with interest at the rate of five (5) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually at the same place as evidenced by coupons to be attached to said bonds.

Said improvement bonds are issued pursuant to section 2380 of the revised statutes of the state of Ohio, as amended April 16, 1880, and also under an ordinance of the Common Council of the city of Toledo Ohio, "To provide for the issue of improvement bonds to pay the cost and expense of the improvement of sewer No. 359 situate in the district lying between Bancroft street, Page street and between Kent street and the alley between Franklin avenue and Vermont avenue.—passed September 21, 1891.

The said bonds will be sold at not less than par and accrued interest, to the highest bidder.

Bidders will be required to state the gross amount they will pay for the bonds besides the accrued interest to date of delivery at Toledo, Ohio. They will also be required to deposit with each bid an amount of money or a certified check on some responsible bank equal to at least five (5) per centum of the par value of the bonds, so bid for, as a guarantee of good faith, and that the bid so made (if successful) will be fulfilled in accordance with the terms thereof, and the requirements of the law and ordinances. When the bids have been examined, and the award made according to law, all monies or checks deposited as guarantees shall be returned to the depositor, or held by the city auditor subject to his call except that of the successful bidder, which shall be held and considered, and accepted as part payment of the bonds so awarded or sold, but should there be any repudiation of the contract or agreement, or refusal to accept and pay for the bonds so sold, then and in that case the deposit shall be forfeited to the city of Toledo, and shall become the property of said city, in compensation for loss and expenses attending the sale of said bonds and as liquidated damages for repudiation of bid. And no bid will be received if not accompanied by money or check aforesaid.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Proposals should be addressed to the Auditor of the city of Toledo, Ohio," and be indorsed "Proposals for improvement bonds."

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles.

London wheat market firm. Country markets generally dearer. French markets very firm. Corn quiet. Weather cloudy. Liverpool wheat firm and 1-2 peuce dearer. Corn higher.

Liverpool received in the past six days 766,000 bu wheat, of which 525,500 was American; and 150,000 bu corn.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 1,123,408 bu, compared with 610,953 bu on the same day last year.

Duluth flour movement, week ending November 1:

	bbls.
Manufactured .....18,426 bbls	30,512
Received by rail.....	94,372
Flour in store.....	142,445
Same time in 1890.....	180,752

Beerbohm, November 4, says: Stock of wheat in Liverpool, Fleetwood, Hull, Glasgow, Bristol, and Gloucester, on November 1 were 650,000 qrs., against 615,000 qts. a month ago, and 1,008,000 qrs. November 1, 1890.

Dornbusch of Oct. 30 says: "The general prevalence of the monsoon rains has been of great benefit to the wheat growing regions of India. In the Northwest provinces, and also in the Bombay Presidency, sowing is being prosecuted with remarkable regularity, and the outlook is so promising that dealers and shippers are disposed to sell freely of the new crop, and so far have met the expected demand with confidence."

Toledo Shippers Take Notice.

The Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg railroad have given notice that hereafter the maximum car load for the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg railroad will be 25 tons, or in other words, that company will not receive cars loaded to exceed 50,000 pounds.

The superintendent of the mint says: The value of the precious metals used in the industrial arts in the United States during last year was approximately, gold, $18,000,000; silver, $9,000,000, of which $10,700,000 gold and $7,140,000 was new bullion.

The receipts of wheat to-day at seven principal western points are 512,455 bu in excess of the corresponding Friday in 1890.

The export clearances yesterday from four Atlantic ports were 604,549 bu of wheat and flour to an aggregate of 800,000 bu. The exports of corn were 40,000 bu.

English markets as reported herein are higher for wheat and corn, and firm in France.

Russian Crops Official.

Chicago telegraphs the following as the official statement of Russian crops for 1890 and 1891:

	1891.	1890.
Wheat, bu.....	176,000,000	204,000,000
Corn, bu.....	27,000,000	33,000,000
Oats, bu.....	527,000,000	483,800,000
Rye, bu.....	520,000,000	612,000,000
Barley, bu.....	132,400,000	158,400,000

The deficiency in Rye, in above statement, is the most improbable feature in the statement, as heretofore the loss of the rye crop has been estimated at 40 per cent.

Sales for Export.

New York reports immense sales of wheat and corn for export yesterday, but Chicago calls them lies.

The Crop in India.

The latest mail dates confirm the report that the wheat crop of India promises a fair average, and sales are being made in importing markets for delivery in May.

Flour Output.

We have not received the Northwestern Millers statement of flour output, but by telegraph it is stated that the aggregate milling is less, and the flour market weaker.

Liverpool closed firm for wheat. Corn higher. Berlin and Paris lower.

The markets in this country have been in a "high mix" to-day. New York opened higher for wheat, but soon squatted to yesterday's closing prices and continuing steady until near the close when there was a limited break. Chicago opened higher but lost it and has been quite irregular all day.

Corn is weak and lower, and has been from opening to close.

In New York November wheat closed 5-8c higher. December, 1-4c lower. November corn 1 1-4c and December 1 1-4c lower. November oats steady.

In Chicago December wheat closed at a loss of 5-8c. November corn at a loss of 1 1-2c. November oats 1-8c up.

In Toledo.—There has been a fair volume of business reported, in wheat futures, in which the May deal was the most prominent. The average of prices made is lower. Opening market was stronger, but it soon weakened, and December closed 5-8c and May 7-8c lower. On the call cash wheat sold at 99c; December, $1 00 1-2. After the call December sold at $1 00 3-8 and closed at 99 1-2c b. May sold at $1 07 1-4, and closed at $1 06 1-4.

Cash wheat was very active, and large sales are reported. Prices closed 1-2c lower. No. 2 soft sold at 99c, and closed at 98 1-2c. No. 3 soft at 95 1-2c. Rejected No. 2 at 81c to 80 1-2c. No. 1 white at 99 1-2c. No. 2 white at 94c.

Corn—No. 2 at 56 1-2c. No. 3 yellow at 56c. No. 3 new at 45c. No. 4 at 43 1-2c. No inspection, 35c.

Rye about steady. No. 2 at 96@95 3-4c. Rejected at 90c.

Clover seed firm and higher but less active. Prime for cash at $4 85. December at $4 87 1-2 to $4 90. No. 2 at $4 65 to $4 70. Receipts light.

Trading was again limited during this morning's session of the stock exchange. Dealings were confined to a very few stocks, notably Lackawanna, St. Paul, Northern Pacific preferred, Chicago Gas, Delaware & Hudson. The opening prices were generally lower than last night's with the greatest decline in Delaware & Hudson. It ranged from 1-8 to 1 1-4 per cent. The weakness was only of short duration, however, a subsequent buying resulting in a rally to last night's figures by 11 o'clock. Delaware & Hudson at that hour not only recovered its early decline but advanced 1-4 to 122. In the hour to noon the market was strong and further advances were recorded, the coal stocks leading. Delaware & Hudson further advanced 3-4 to 122 3-4. Northern Pacific preferred sold up from 69 1-4 to 70 1-8. The changes in the others were slight. At this writing the market is dull but steady. The sales amounted to 119,400 shares.

TRENTON'S UNIVERSITY EXTENSION.

The Trenton, N. J., University Extension Centre offers four courses of six lectures each, in place of the single course given last year. This indicates strong and healthy growth. The first course will be from October 16th to November 10th, upon "The Plays of Shakespeare," by Dr. Murray, Dean of Princeton College; the second, "Historical Geology," from November 17th to December 22nd, by Professor W. B. Scott, of Princeton; the third, "Political Economy," from January 12th to February 16th, by Professor Robert Ellis Thompson, of the University of Pennsylvania; and the fourth, illustrated lectures on "Light and Color," from February 23rd to March 20th, by Professor Goodspeed, of the University of Pennsylvania. Besides furnishing these twenty-four lectures for $3.00, the Trenton Centre offers a supplementary course without charge, if, as is quite probable, the funds received warrant it.

PECULIAR CASE

On Hearing in the United States Court This Afternoon.

A very peculiar criminal case is on hearing in the United States district court this afternoon. A Columbus Grove man is charged with having sent obscene letters through the mail. The complainant is a gentleman named Saunders, although the letters were aimed to injure a Dr. Begg.

Letters would be picked up in the streets implicating Dr. Begg in some criminal action, such as an epistle purporting to come from Roberts, the Columbus Grove prisoner threatening certain disclosures unless Begg came promptly to his assistance.

The letter on which the charge is based is horribly obscene and was written to or at least addressed to Mr. Saunders and implicated Begg in a case that would if true cause him trouble.

The testimony is almost wholly circumstantial.

A NEW FANCHON.

Commodore Bills and Captain Curtis have gone to Marblehead to consult with yacht builder Southard on the question of building another Fanchon. The record of this yacht is so well known that all lovers of aquatic sports ar einterested in her. Mr. Southard, who built the Fanchon, claims to be able to build another boat very much on her lines, only giving er a longer run aft, that will show her heels to anything on the lakes. There are a large class of yachtmen who believe in the broad and shallow boats, with plenty of floor, in preference to the narrow and deep English idea, who would like to see Mr. Southard have a chance to put his ideas afloat. It is to be hoped that Messrs. Bills and Curtis will leave an order with him for a new Fanchon.

THE MACHINISTS' DANCE.

Toledo Lodge, No. 105, International association of machinists gave their first annual ball last evening at Pythian castle anr the affair was a decided success, largely brought about by the faithful labors of hte following committees:

Arrangement—G. H. Davis, R. H. Hopkins, W. D. Gemmill, J. A. McMichael, J. J. Braunschweiger.

Reception—A. Nautz, R. C. Duguid, H. Bass, A. G. Otto.

Floor—M. F. Hayes, H. Ensign, Co. O. Wolcott, Louis Salkald, R. H. Cole, A. Cowan, J. B. Whipple.

A BAD INTERSECTION.

At the intersection of Union and Sherman streets there once existed four cross-walks. They are probably there now,but they are hidden beneath the piles of mud until pedestrians have to be ferried across. The trouble arises out of the fact that all four cross-walks are from six inches to a foot lower than the road-bed, and every vehicle that crosses carries mud onto them until they are leveled up. They have been cleaned several times, but in a few hours after a rain they are again impassible. The sidewalks should be raised and the unsightly holes filled up.

BOARDING HOUSE THIEF.

Thomas Burk and his brother, who work for Finch, the grocer, and board at 123 Superior street had two coats, a vest and other articles stolen from their room yesterday by a boarding house sneak thief. The fellow came to the house yesterday and engaged board but before the day was over he left and took with him these clothes. One coat and the vest have been recovered from a pawn shop where they were put up.

DONN PIATT DEAD.

West Liberty, O., Nov. 13.—(Special)—Donn Piatt, the eminent journalist, author and diplomat, died at his home in Mac-o-chee yesterday afternoon, after a week's illness. The funeral will occur Sunday.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Dr. Schweiss was examined on the charge of insanity in probate court today, but no action was taken.

Judge Lemmon this morning decided the case of Brown against Elkhorst in favor of the plaintiff. The case involves the possession of certain ice ponds.

In criminal court this morning a motion for new trial in the case of the state against King Ford, colored, was argued. Ford was convicted of rape.

The Forsyth post completed arrangements at a meeting last night for the celebration of the silver anniversary. Several noted speakers will deliver addresses. Will Stackhouse will arrange for music.

A London letter says: After 30 years' struggle against an adverse destiny the leviathan steamship Great Eastern was beached on the shores of the Mersey, near Liverpool, and for many months past a dozen men have been knocking her to pieces. Her bones sold for $100,000.

AMONG THE PEOPLE.

Jottings of Personal Mention About the City,

Gleaned by Members of the Bee Staff—Socials and Small Parties at Different Homes.

Mr. Lertz will spend a week in Cincinnati.

H. P. Gurney is out of the city on business.

Mrs. E. Bramwell, who has been seriously ill, is slowly recovering.

Mr. Tom Campbell, of the Toledo Licorice factory, is in Detroit.

Mr. James Milburn, superintendent of the Tubular Axle company, is west on a business trip.

Mrs. John La Barre is at Hillsdale, where she went to attend the golden wedding of her sister Mrs. Krumb.

J. P. Bastell, a leading lumberman of Toledo, was visiting his Lima customers yesterday.—Lima Gazette.

The Seventh ward whist club meets to-night with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lemmon.

Mrs. and Miss Palmer of Parkwood avenue are entertaining guests from abroad.

Mr. John Moulton will give a dancing party this evening to a few friends at his home on Monroe street.

Mrs. John Coghlin and Mrs. G. G. Hadley returned from New York last night.

Miss Mae Coghlin gave a prettily appropriated pedro party for Miss Sawyer yesterday afternoon.

Miss Morehouse, of Huron street, is entertaining a number of her friends this afternoon.

A bright new boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Herman, of lower Erie street. Of course it's handsome, and Harbor Master Skeldon is a grandpa.

Henry G. Hilt, Mrs. Rosetta Bliss, Geo. Fly, a soldier, Mr. Harper and Mary Bacque were granted pensions to-day through M. Loenshal.

Messrs. Colton and Bernhard rode to Wyandotte yesterday on their bicycles. This is the first time that this run has been accomplished.

Mrs. Bond Lloyd was assisted in receiving her guests yesterday afternoon from 3 until 6 and from 8 until 10 o'clock last evening by the Misses Mame Cummings, Bessie Cummings, Maria Gasline, Georgiana Dodge and Miss Brigham of Milwaukee. After the reception the young people enjoyed an informal dance.

Mr. F. W. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Welsbash Gas Appliance company, has just returned from Homer, N. Y., where he attended the golden wedding of his parents, which was celebrated on Monday last. A pleasant feature of the occasion, and one which is rarely enjoyed, was the attendance of the minister who performed the wedding ceremony 50 years ago. Mr. Hitchcock left his parents in good health, and at their advanced age feels thankful that Father Time has dealt so easily with them.

Mrs. John Sherwood, of New York, gave a second reading "On Spain" last evening at Whitney & Currier's music hall. Like the first reading, it was full of nterest and originality. Mrs. Sherwood took rer hearers with her in spirit through that interesting old country of Spain and partook with her all the enjoyments and hardships of the trip. The descriptions of the Alhambra and the cathedrals of Spain were especially fine. Mrs. Sherwood has made many warm friends during her stay in the city, and it is to be hoped that she will again favor Toledo audiences with her delightful readings at some future date.

A very pleasant party was given by Miss Goldsmith Wednesday evening. Her home was prettily decorated with pink roses and smilax. The young people enjoyed dancing and card playing till the "wee sma' hours." Among the guests were the Misses Nettie Fuller, Sue Chapman, Helen McCarty, Ada Burt, Daisy Platt, Eva Randell, Helen Olmstead, Arabella Thiede, Rosamond Mitchell, Fanny Emsberger, Marguerite McCarty, May Crandell, and Messrs. Fred Campbell, Harry Hurlburt, Robe Waron, Clarance, Percy and George Rummells, Burt Elton, Lawrence Ashley, Tessie Ross, Elgin Taylor, Clifford Platt, Frank Thiede and Russell Burt.

A number of Catholics desirous of forming a literary and musical society, met last evening at the home of Mr. C. A. Rowsey, 620 Lagrange street, and organized as the Catholic club. The purpose of the club is to enable the Catholics of Toledo to become more thoroughly acquainted with each other and bind themselves together under the title of the Catholic club, the object being to foster a better feeling, encouraging social intercourse and providing a means whereby they can meet and receive mutual, social and intellectual benefits. Mr. McDonald acted as temporary chairman and Mrs. The constitution was adopted as reported by the committee, with the exception that the time of meeting was changed from Tuesday evening, a reported by the committee, to Thursday evening. This change was deemed necessary to allow the younger men, many of whom attend meetings on Tuesday, to be present. Fifty-five signed as charter members. The next meeting will be held at the Hubbard block, corner of Huron and Jefferson streets, on the first Thursday ni December. The young men are especially invited to attend this meeting.

A PUZZLER.

The Grammar Question Which Floored Many San Francisco School Teachers.

There is wailing and gnashing of teeth among the applicants for teachers' certificates who were examined yesterday, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Of the total of forty-six who entered the lists Monday only eleven succeeded in passing the examination. The remaining thirty-five encountered a stumbling block, which was as unexpected as it was disastrous.

The stumbling block was the following puzzling question in grammar:

The armaments which thunder-strike the walls
Of rock-built cities, bidding nations quak
Of rock-built cities, bidding nations quake
And monarchs tremble in their capitols;
The oak-leviatnans, whose huge ribs make
Their clay creator their valn title take
Of lord of thee and arbiter of war—
These are thy toys, and as the snowy flake
They melt into the yeast of waves
Which mar alike the Armada's pride
And spoils of Trafalgar.

First—Parse (a) bidding, (b) monarchs, (c) tremble, (d) take (e) armaments.

Second—(1) meaning of armaments; (2) meaning of oak-leviathans; (3) meaning of clay creator; (4) "Lord of thee," lord of whom or what; (5) meaning of "rock-built cities."

Third—(1) What kind of a sentence is this stanza? (2) Name the subordinate clauses and tell what they modify. (3) Explain the poet's allusion to the "spoils of Trafalgar." (4) Explain meaning of "mar the Armada's pride." (5) (a) Figure of speech in fourth line? (b) figure of speech in sixth line? (6) Put this stanza into a paragraph of plain prose, as free as possible from rhetorical figures and style.

The total of credits in the examination in grammar was eighty, but the unfortunate applicants who failed to correctly answer the question quoted lost forty credits, thus rendering it impossible to pass. That the question was a Waterloo is evinced by the fact as stated, that of forty-six only eleven succeeded in answering it correctly. The percentage of failure on this account is greater this year than ever before in this city.

Director Woodward states that it is his intention to bring the matter to the attention of the board of education, with a view of eliminating the question propounded by the board of examiners and giving the disappointed applicants another chance. Nearly all of them passed satisfactory examinations in the other studies, but their failure in grammar barred them from receiving certificates until the next examination. He says the question was too deep for second-grade applicants, and they should not have been required to answer it.

THE LAND OF THE OLIVE AND PIG.

Some parts of Australia seem to be admirably suited for the growth of the olive. Principal Thompson, of Dookie, says in a recent report that 700 olive trees planted in that district are robust and healthy, and that they produce splendid oil. He strongly recommends the planting of the olive around vineyards and homesteads for shade and shelter, and to give a picturesque appearance to the rural home. Apart from the making of oil he believes it would pay handsomely to grow olive berries to feed pigs alone. Last winter the pigs at Dookie (about eighty head) were allowed to eat up the fallen berries in the olive grove; they had no other food for upward of two months, and throve amazingly, their skins having a peculiar shining appearance, characteristic of animals being well fed.—Nature.

A TRAIN AN HOUR.

The New York Central Distances all Competitors in Time.

Next Year They Will Take You to Chicago Every Hour—Great Trains for Mails.

The Empire State Express was supposed to be a wonder and a long jump in advance of all competitors between New York and Buffalo, but it isn't all the Central management has in store for us. Beginning as soon as travel will warrant it the coming year, the New York Central, controlling as it does six tracks between New York and Buffalo, and six tracks between Buffalo and Chicago, will run a train from New York city to Chicago every hour, carrying United States mail. This will be something that no road but the New York Central could attempt. It controls the New York Central's four tracks and the West Shore's two tracks to Buffalo; it controls the Michigan Central system, one of the finest in the world between Buffalo and Chicago, the Lake Shore with its two tracks, and now the Nickel Plate is being fast got in readiness and will be completed to that city of wonderful growth in time to open up for the world's fair. The Central has given evidence of brains in every department and in addition to that it displays a courage in carrying out what can be done. The Empire State Express has not killed anybody yet, and General Passenger Agent Daniels smiles when he hears the murmurs that they are running too fast, just as old George Tompkins of the Erie used to smile when passengers refused to ride 35 miles an hour, they claiming 20 miles was fast enough "'thout a man wanted his carcass in the ditch.."

Onward, onward, onward ever,
Central progress none can stay,
They who make a vain endeavor
Shall, by George, be swept away.

FAGGING AMONG BRITISH NAVAL CADETS.

Four naval cadets of the British training ship Britannia, stationed at Portsmouth, were expelled recently for scandalous practices in connection with the system of fagging, a system of making valets of the new arrivals and imposing on them all kinds of indignities, as well as all manner of menial work. It was discovered that the old boys on the ship were outrageously tyrannical in their treatment of the newcomers, going so far as to flog them, extorting their pocket money, and practicing all manner of blackmail. They tortured the new boys by squeezing their fingers between keys arranged like a thumbscrew, beat their hands with a bunch of keys attached to a lanyard, and the seniors carried a knotted rope, which they used on the junior cadets very freely. The Britannia is the chief training ship for the higher officers of the navy, and it can well be imagined what sort of officers these young tyrants would make and how the sailors under their command would be apt to fare.

The reputation of Garfield Tea is encircling the globe, orders coming in for it not only from Europe, but far India.

Taylor's flour takes the lead of all flours in the market.

CRIME IN ENGLAND.

The English laws, or rather magistrates, punish offenses against property more severely than offenses against the person. The stealing of any article, however small, is punished often with several months' imprisonment at hard labor, while the costermonger for "jumping on his mother" gets but a few days' incarceration, minus the hard labor. Wife-beating, a favorite practice among what are termed the lower classes, is scarcely punished at all, unless the wife dies. Even then, unless death occurs immediately, the brute receives but a comparatively light sentence. On the other hand, a deliberate murder perpetrated with a deadly weapon, or by poison, is followed by the hanging of the murderer within a few weeks. Recently a murderer was hanged within a fortnight of the death and burial of his victim.

DO DUCKS THINK?

Mr. W. Prentis, of Rainham, England, describes an interesting case of a wild duck's forethought. A mowing machine was set to work round the outside of a field of lucerne bordering a marsh, diminishing the circle each time round the field, leaving about two acres in the center. A wild duck was seen by the shepherd to fly from the piece of lucerne that was left with something in her beak, and, happening to fly near him, she dropped a three-parts incubated egg. She was again observed by the shepherd, and also by the sheep-shearer, carrying another egg in her beak, this time over the marsh wall toward the saltings; and again she was seen for the third time to carry an egg in her beak in the same direction. Next day, when the field was finished by the removal of the last piece of lucerne, the wild duck's nest from which the eggs had been removed was discovered.

THE HOMES OF OLD ENGLAND.

A home should be "all glorious within." This is woman's eminent domain. There are houses whose internal arrangements are such as to rob them of comfort; while in others every article of furniture, chair, sofa, lounge, table, nay the very fold of the curtains welcome you and invite repose. In England home-making is a science and art. In all the wide world there are no more sensible, restful homes than in mother England. The open grate, the snug living-room, the substantial furniture, the air of ease and solid comfort are nowhere surpassed. England's homes are England's strength and glory.—New England Magazine.

PROFITABLE PRUNES.

The cultivation of prunes in California is said to be profitable, about $1 per tree, or $100 per acre. This rate increases as the tree grows old, until the fruit each year is worth almost $2. Ex-Secretary of State Thomas Beck has given up everything else to engage in the cultivation of the prune. The Pajaro Land and Fruit company was recently formed for the purpose of raising this fruit in large quantities. It has bought 600 acres of land in Pajaro valley and will plant an orchard of French prunes. They will be from four to six feet in height when put into the ground. The stock of these trees is to be three years old and the grafting one year. Next year they will begin to yield fruit. The average life of the tree is 30 years.

A MISSIONARY'S DISCOMFORTS.

A missionary who has just returned to England from Central Africa says English ladies have gone to Tanganyika with the most inadequate notions of the sort of existence they must lead there. He says they are fairly dismayed when the truth at last dawns upon them that they must do without afternoon teas, that they cannot amuse themselves in society, and that they must eat their breakfast without the morning newspaper. Some American missionaries have gone to Africa without the slightest notion apparently that a good deal of that land is not regarded as very salubrious.
